Rebels Extend Control

UN Shrugs Off Ultimatum For Congo Action

LEOPOLDVILLE, t h e Congo (AP) — The United Nations shrugged off Saturday a Congolese government's ultimatum demanding action against Lumumbist troops who traveled halfway across the Congo to take over the town of Luluabourg.

The coup brought Lumumbist forces to within 500 miles of Leopoldville and sent a sharp threat of alarm through officials in the regime of President Joseph Kasavubu. Capture of the Kasai Province capital gave Antoine Gizenga's leftist Stanleyville regime control of three of the Congo's six provincial capitals.

Deputy Premier Joseph Bolikango gave notice that unless the United Nations took steps within six hours to clear the intruders out of Luluabourg, the Leopoldville government would take "dispositions which the situation demands."

The United Nations said: "We don't know what action they want us to take or what action they want to do themselves."

A United Nations spokesman said the 2,000-man government garrison in the city, Luluabourg, welcomed with open arms the 300 rebels who journeyed 800 miles south from Gizenga's Oriental Province stronghold for their bloodless conquest.

Luluabourg is just 110 miles northeast of the Congo-Portuguese Angola border and if the rebels left behind them firm lines of supply and communications they have nearly cut the Congo in half.

Apparent defection of supposedly loyal troops to Gizenga, political heir to the slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba, sent a jolt of alarm through the Leopoldville government.

About 1,000 U.N. Ghanaian soldiers stationed in and around Luluabourg were under strict orders to prevent clashes between government and rebel troops. But the U. N. spokesman said, the Ghanaians had no grounds to prevent a peaceful "merger" of the two forces.

The government commander in the city, a Col. Mjoko, was given U.N. protection after the invasion, the spokesman said, and now is a "house guest" of a civilian U.N. administrator. Government and rebel troops took up joint duties at the airport and in the city.

Lumumbists long have held Stanleyville and Bukavu, capital of Kivu province.

There were signs the Leopoldville government knew a week ago that rebel troops were in the Luluabourg area but thought they were going to defect to government forces commanded by Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu.

When U.N. forces from Luluabourg went to Lusambo, about 150 miles away to investigate reported troop movements, the Leopoldville government protested what it called U.N. interference in Congolese military affairs.

Citizens in Luluabourg, a northern Kasai city, were overwhelmingly in support of Lumumba.

Legislators Feud Over Milk Measure

Texas Senator Says Reprisal Attempt Underway In Mo.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas and Missouri legislators, at least some of them, are feuding over a milk bill pending before lawmakers here.

Sen. Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo, said an effort is being made in the Missouri Legislature to stop shipment of Texas cattle and citrus fruit into Missouri in reprisal if he pushed what he calls his "milk sanitation bill."

Hazlewood released a letter addressed to Frank R. Carter, member of the Missouri General Assembly, in which he said all his bill does is require that "milk imported to Texas be produced under equivalent health regulations to that produced in Texas."

"All the publicity which you seem to be seeking causes me to wonder who is behind it," the Texas state senator wrote.

"Could it be possible that these same foreign milk companies who are dumping their milk into your state, according to a University of Missouri bulletin, are behind this publicity and are misinforming you? Apparently they are."

Hazlewood said millions of pounds of Missouri milk are being shipped into Texas now under inspection of City Health Departments at Dallas and San Antonio and he wants a statewide law.

"As to your threat to stop the shipment into Missouri of Texas cattle, citrus fruits and sugar, we down here in Texas would be glad to see you pass such a bill. If there is any way we could help you out, please let me know because our Texas people are not the kind who would have any desire to ship either cattle, citrus fruit or sugar into the state of Missouri unless with equivalent standards of like products produced in your state," Hazlewood's letter said.

"You clean up your house first. Quit throwing stones if you intend to live in a glass house. Our Texas people are not the kind who would have any desire to ship either cattle, citrus fruit or sugar into the state of Missouri unless with equivalent standards of like products produced in your state," Hazlewood's letter said.

Automatic Brakes Stop Train

Major Rail Disaster Averted In Alabama

MILSTEAD, Ala. (AP) — A major rail disaster was averted early Saturday when automatic brakes halted passenger and freight cars only feet from a flood-swept ravine where two engines and a baggage car plunged.

The engineer and the fireman escaped with injuries as the diesel locomotives and baggage car of the Southern Railway's Piedmont Limited fell into the swirling torrent in a remote area near Milstead.

Only one of the 40-odd passengers required first aid. Others were shaken slightly by the sudden stop.

The New York-to-New Orleans train, already delayed more than two hours by high water, driving rain and strong wind, was traveling less than 20 miles an hour when the tracks collapsed.

At a faster speed, said an official of the Western Railway of Alabama, even the automatic braking might not have kept the other cars from following the first three units into the 40-foot hole.

The swift current submerged the second engine, covered part of the baggage car and left less than 10 feet of the lead unit above water. Only the first locomotive was occupied.

There, inching deeper into the muddy bottom every minute, engineer J. W. Smith lay trapped with a broken leg about four hours before rescuers reached the isolated wreck scene.

Emerging as the hero of the ordeal was his Negro fireman, Jack Vinson, 68. Despite injuries, he managed to get out of the water-surrounded cab, crawl up the crumbling bank of the ravine, trek two miles through rain-swept terrain and summon help.

Vinson, suffering cuts and bruises, was described in good condition at a hospital in Montgomery 25 miles west of Milstead. The condition of Smith, hospitalized with possible internal injuries besides the broken leg, had not been determined.

First man to get to Smith, 71, was Charles Moore, 29, chief photographer for the Montgomery Advertiser and Alabama Journal.

The cameraman made the perilous descent holding onto a rope fashioned from bed sheets taken from ambulance stretchers. Minutes later several highway patrolmen and others made their way down the bank to help.

The passengers spent the night in their cars. They had lights but no heat.

$271,000 In Payments

Says Rancher Turned Soil Bank Program Into Racket

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has been told about a Colorado rancher who bought a 6,960-acre ranch for $139,000 and will get $271,000 from the government by placing 3,879 acres in the soil bank program for 10 years.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., in recounting the transaction Friday said the rancher, Wayne E. Tallman, had turned the soil bank program into a racket.

"At the end of this 10-year period, Mr. Tallman will have $131,800 in cash profit, plus a 6,960-acre ranch, all paid for by the American taxpayer," the senator said.

The ranch was purchased from the estate of John W. Baughman Farms Co., for which Tallman worked as a district manager, Williams said.

In Colorado, Tallman could not be reached for comment.

Mrs. Kathryn Forester, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office for Kiowa County, Colo., where the farm is located, said there were "no schemes, rackets or devices involved."

In Denver, the Rocky Mountain News quoted Baughman as saying he did not handle the deal personally.

"But if what the senator says is true, I apparently sold it too cheap," Baughman said.

Williams, using a report made by the General Accounting Office, described how Tallman got around the $5,000 limitation placed by Congress on the annual amount which may be paid to any one farmer under the soil bank program.

"Mr. Tallman devised a scheme wherein he would break up the farm into smaller units, cash-lease the different units to various tenants, and then have the tenants sign a contract with the government under the cash reserve program with the proviso that they would turn the money received thereon over to him as cash rental."

Williams said that before Tallman bought the ranch in 1957, he got approval of his plan from the Kiowa County committee.

Alabama Ready For Possibly Worst Flooding In 40 Years

Nikita Into Oust-UN Campaign

His Plan Would Pull Out UN Force, Form Conciliation Body

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev Saturday stepped into the Soviet campaign to force the United Nations out of the Congo and demanded that African nations solve the crisis alone.

The essence of the plan, rejected by the U.N. Security Council earlier last week, is to have African states with U. N. forces in the Congo bring them home and then form a conciliation commission to deal with the Congo's warring factions. Thus they would try to make peace without military force to back up their decisions.

In addition, he suggested that the commission be instructed in advance to deal with the Communist-backed rebel regime in Stanleyville as the Congo's legal government because it is headed by political heirs of the slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Using the killing of Lumumba as a wedge to renew his attack on Dag Hammarskjold, Khrushchev charged the U. N. secretary-general was to blame because "whoever held the knife or revolver is after all but the sole murderer."

Most of his fire was directed at Hammarskjold for allowing Lumumba to fall into the hands of authorities in Katanga, at the Belgians for failing to get out of the Congo and continuing to support Katanga President Moise Tshombe and at Tshombe as "the hangman" of Lumumba and the "puppet" of Belgium.

"All this wrecks the trust of the peoples in the United Nations," he said.

Khrushchev's platform was a letter to Prime Minister Nehru of India, dated Wednesday and handed to correspondents Saturday, morning at the front door of the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The note was also distributed to government chiefs in Asia, Africa, Europe and Latin America but no mention was made of sending it to the United States.

The United States lined up with representatives of Asia and Africa in the council this week to approve a resolution calling for U. N. forces to use force if necessary to bring peace in the Congo. The Soviet Union abstained.

Moulder Is Requested To Accept Award For House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Morgan M. Moulder, D-Mo., has been asked by Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to accept an award for the committee from a youth group in New York, March 3.

Moulder, second ranking Democrat on the committee, said the award is to be presented to the committee by the Young Americans for Freedom. The group, he said, has memberships in colleges and universities throughout the nation.

'Routine Inspection' By Mo-Pac President

Downing B. Jenks, president of the Missouri Pacific Lines, visited Sedalia Friday for what was called a "routine inspection" by K. H. Hoffman, 1215 East Broadway, district storekeeper.

Jenks, who assumed the presidency of the railroad Feb. 1 of this year, stated at that time he intended to visit all points of the line, according to Hoffman. There have been rumors that the visit concerned the re-opening of the old Missouri Pacific Shops, but this could not be confirmed Saturday night. Superintendent J. S. Simon, 1620 West Broadway, was not available for comment Saturday.

Jenks returned to his St. Louis headquarters Friday night.

Sales Are Doubled

PARIS (AP) — The French aircraft industry more than doubled sales abroad last year, according to the Union of Aeronautical Industries. About three-fifths of the equipment sold was civilian.

LUMUMBISTS TAKE REFUGE IN U.N. CAMP — A Congolese mother, carrying a baby under one arm and a small child on the other arm, balances a trunk on her head as she enters the United Nations Malayan unit's camp in Leopoldville. Special Phones Ring Fruitlessly

Search Continues For Missing Girl, 4

NEW YORK (AP) — All night long the two special telephones rang, and then into the day.

Through the streets of lower Manhattan a truck moved, with a loudspeaker booming out a repeated appeal for help from anyone.

Hundreds of police knocked on doors, pried into dark corners with searchlights, scoured rooftops, descended into sewers, searched basements, checked buildings apartment by apartment, combed vacant lots and empty structures, questioned cabbies, shopowners and pedestrians.

It was all part of a feverish but painstaking search to find, not a desperate criminal menacing the lives of citizens, but a bright-eyed pretty girl of four.

Seldom has there been such a mobilization of the vast manpower and resources of the New York Police Department. But finding a missing child is of highest importance to the force. Newly appointed Police Commissioner Michael J.

Murphy instructed commanding officers to ask immediately for anything they might need.

Edith (Googie) Kiecorius vanished under strange circumstances Wednesday while playing on the sidewalk in front of the home of an uncle on Eighth Ave., near 18th Street. She had accompanied her widowed mother there from Brooklyn.

Neither Edith nor any trace of her was found as the hours wore on.

A sound truck was sent through the streets to ask help of anyone who might have noticed something, and two special phones were installed at the precinct station house to take calls concerning the child.

Hundreds of calls came but seemed of no aid. Many persons telephoned just to suggest ways of proceeding. All their ideas already were being employed by police, however.

Authorities believed the girl was taken by some frustrated woman, possibly one whose own child had died. As a result they checked death records. They also asked mental hospitals for names of women released recently.

Warrant Issued For Arrest Of 2 Versailles Women For Shoplift

A Pettis County warrant has been issued for the arrest of two Versailles, Mo., women charged with shoplifting at Kroger's Thursday.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said the warrant is being sent to Versailles and the pair will be picked up and brought to Sedalia for trial.

According to Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz the women are Alta Mae McGinnis, 41, and Gertrude Carver, 46, both of Versailles.

Fritz said the pair was apprehended by Kroger manager Ralph Huff as they were leaving the store. Taken were various items totaling an estimated value of $15.

The women will be brought before Judge Frank Armstrong in Magistrate Court on a charge of stealing clothing and merchandise valued at under $50 which is a misdemeanor, the prosecuting attorney stated.

Rivers Still Rise After Week Of Rain

No More Rain Seen; No Immediate Relief For Stricken Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Central Alabama prepared for perhaps its worst flooding in 40 years Saturday as rivers continued to rise after a week of steady rain.

The rain had stopped in most of Alabama, and the Weather Bureau said there was little chance of any more, at least through Sunday.

But immediate relief for stricken areas of Alabama was not in sight.

Temperatures plunged from the balmy readings of the past week to subfreezing in some areas of north Alabama and Mississippi, light snow began to fall. None of it stuck, but the runoff added to the swollen rivers.

The Coosa, Tallapoosa and Alabama rivers continued their rampage.

Up north, a snowstorm staggered Indiana. Eight inches or more of snow, and drifts up to five feet, clogged streets and roads in the central section of the state.

"Even our snowplows are getting stuck," a state police official reported.

He said all main roads radiating from Indianapolis were closed or closing.

Snow mounds ranged up to five feet on U.S. Highway 24 between Peru and Wabash in northern Indiana.

Indiana state police advised motorists against all but emergency trips—at a time when thousands of fans were floundering toward 64 high school basketball tournaments. Some games were canceled.

Thousands of acres of property, many miles of roads, and hundreds of homes were inundated in central Alabama.

The Alabama Power Co. said all reservoirs at the company's dams on the river system north of Montgomery are filled and overflowing.

Flood gates at six dams have been opened, but the company said this would make little difference on the amount of water flowing southward. The flood gates control the water surface at the top of the dams.

Before the rain slackened, a final deluge added to the flooding, with rainfall exceeding seven inches reported at numerous Southern areas.

Within the 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. Saturday, West Point, Ga., reported 7.65 inches; La Grange, Ga., 7.82 inches; Frisco City in south Alabama, 7.31 inches, and Miller Ferry in central Alabama, 8.27 inches.

Atlanta received .70 of an inch in 15 minutes and 5.67 inches for the 24-hour period.

Rainfall at Birmingham since Feb. 1 has totaled 17.51 inches—already a record for the month.

Montgomery, where the Alabama River stood at 53 feet Saturday and was expected to crest at 56 feet within 48 hours, received 5.54 inches of rain in 24 hours.

The Alabama's crest at 56 feet would equal the record set in 1919. Flood stage is 35 feet.

Flood waters still cover major portions of Hattiesburg, Miss., with depths up to eight feet. An estimated 5,000 persons were evacuated as the Leaf River spilled out of its banks. No more rain was forecast through Sunday.

One of the worst floods in the history of Columbus, Ga., threatened Saturday as the Chattahoochee River burst out of its banks in the valley between West Point, Ga., and Columbus.

Five persons are known to have perished because of the flooding.

5-Year-Old Boy Is Killed Under Truck

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A 5-year-old boy was killed Saturday under a truck as he was trying to jump onto the bed of the vehicle.

He was Benjamin Floyd Pulis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Pulis. Oliver Green, 29, driver of the truck, said Benjamin and an older brother, Guy, 12, attempted to jump on the truck as he drove into an alley. The boy lost his grip and fell under a rear wheel.

Castro Defectors Rather Than Aliens

Insurgent Force Grows In Size And Activity In Cuban Mountains

HAVANA (AP) — Insurgents in increasing numbers are active in Oriente Province's mountains but most—if not all—appear to be defectors from Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime rather than arrivals from abroad.

Qualified observers who toured Oriente, Cuba's easternmost province, reported Saturday they found no direct confirmation of reports widely circulated in Cuba of "landings" by rebels in several areas of eastern Cuba.

But the observers reported they learned reliably that up to 600 opposition men had fled into the hills between Garacoa on the northern coast and Guantanamo on the southern coast to fight the Castro regime.

A survey lasting several days failed to produce a single direct confirmation of reported landings in the Baracoa area or in the La Plata-Pilon region on the southern coast. Landings in these areas have been widely rumored since early February.

But the survey did produce proof in the form of conversations with relatives of rebels and Cuban officials that there is steadily increasing insurgent activity in Oriente which may in time grow into an opposition "second front."

The observers confirmed that considerable numbers of Castro militiamen and troops have been dispatched into the area midway between Baracoa and Guantanamo because of insurgent activity.

The government maintained silence on progress of its "clean-up" effort against a main concentration of rebels in the Escambray Mountains of south-central Cuba.

The "liberation army" radio from somewhere outside Cuba said the insurgents made a "successful attack" on militia positions ringing the Escambrays. The broadcast said rebels used only bayonets and commando knives to avoid alerting the militiamen held in reserve.

Those who made the Oriente tour made this report:

Lt. Emilio Vera, chief of the Guantanamo jail, decamped into the hills Feb. 14 with a number of political prisoners and 20 guards — all armed. Castro's agents arrested Vera's wife and held her incommunicado, the observers said.

Nearly 40 other members of Castro's police and military organizations led by Capt. Argimiro Fonseca have deserted and moved into the hills.

In the roundup of anti-Castro suspects that followed, more than 200 persons were arrested. Among those detained was ex-police Capt. Jose Rodriguez Moreno, chief of the Territorial Taxes Bureau in Guantanamo and brother-in-law of Regino Boti, Castro's minister of economy.

Others reportedly seized were Guantanamo's postmaster, an army lieutenant and several Guantanamo merchants.

Government spokesmen in Havana would not confirm these arrests.

Benefit Play Set for Two Night Shows

"The Four Poster" will be staged for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Center of Pettis County Tuesday and Wednesday at the Horace Mann auditorium. The sponsoring organization is the Auxiliary of the Crippled Children's Center.

The benefit play is an unusual production, consisting of only two characters, T-Sgt. John Heidinger and Marty Rohrback, Whiteman Air Force Base, both having extensive experience on the stage, will play the two roles. "The Four Poster," written by Jan de Hertog, has previously been presented at Whiteman.

It is unusual that Sedalians have the opportunity to see a Broadway hit staged locally, Mrs. Gregory Connor, president of the Auxiliary of the Crippled Children's Center, stated the interest in the play here has been shown by the advanced ticket sales. All proceeds, after the fee for the royalty and minor expenses are deducted, will go to the local center.

The play will start at 8 p.m. both nights. Tickets are on sale at the Crippled Children's Center, at the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce office, and through members of the auxiliary.

"The Crippled Children's Center has a budget of almost $36,000 a year," Mrs. Connor stated. "We are most fortunate that our many friends at the base have such a fervid interest in the center to help us raise money in order that our heavy budget might be met. Sedalians and other theater fans in this area will not only get to see an outstanding performance, but they will be aiding our Crippled Children's Center immeasurably by their attendance."

Founders Day Observed At Horace Mann

The annual observance of Founders Day was the theme of the February meeting of the Horace Mann PTA.

Mr. Emmett Hood, lifelong worker in education, was introduced by Mrs. E. J. Feig, founders day chairman. Mr. Hood has taught in every grade except kindergarten at some time during his life and had many worthwhile suggestions to offer for the betterment of education. He and Mrs. Hood have chosen Sedalia for their retirement home after many years of teaching in Missouri, Oklahoma and other parts of the Midwest.

Mrs. Stanley Fisher, president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. W. A. Korando read the devotional.

The following members were appointed to the nominating committee, Mrs. Jack Austin, A. L. Wilson and Mrs. I. H. Lehmer.

An announcement was made concerning the Parent and Family Life Class which will be held March 2 instead of March 3. Plans are being made to hold a style and variety show Friday evening, March 3. This will be composed entirely of children attending Horace Mann and they will model the season's newest fashions. An all-day bake sale will be held in connection with the show.

Dr. Stanley Fisher spoke on the TB tests to be given soon at the school. The tests cannot give TB to the child and are painless. He requested co-operation of all parents in helping track down this disease.

In connection with Founders Day, the list of past presidents was read and those present were honored. Corsages were given to

DR. WILLARD W. COCHRAUE, left, economic advisor to the Secretary of Agriculture, and Fred V. four former presidents and to the present one, Mrs. Fisher.

Room count went to Mrs. Hudson's room and to Mrs. Drake's room.

An orchestra of 50, fifth, sixth and seventh graders under the direction of Mrs. Russell Gilmore played a group of musical numbers.

Refreshments were served and a social hour held following the meeting.

Farmers Store Over 376 Million Bushels of Corn

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Thursday farmers had stored 376,191,000 bushels of 1960-crop corn under price supports through January.

This was nearly 80 million bushels more than a year ago, from the 1959 crop.

The other feed grains—barley, oats and grain sorghum — also were stored under supports in larger quantities this year than last. The same was true of wheat.

Wheat placed under supports from the 1960 crop totaled 417,130,000 bushels, compared with 308,941,000 a year earlier.

Other grains put under supports this year and last respectively included, grain sorghums 107,238,000 and 59,647,000 hundredweight.

Wheat stored under supports by major states this year included: Kansas 104,821,000, Missouri 6,608,000 and Oklahoma 45,896,000.

Corn stored by states included Kansas 15,103,000, and Missouri 22,477,000.

Latina Sodalitas Meeting Is Held In Little Theatre

The regular meeting of Latina Sodalitas, Smith-Cotton's Latin club, was Thursday evening in the Little Theatre.

The program started as Danny Lane played "Toreador's Song" on the trumpet. Scarlett Cooper gave a description of "A Roman Banquet."

Kay Rotermund sang the beautiful "Ave Maria" by Schubert, accompanied by Mary Donna Moore.

Highlight of the evening was a playlet, "Ira Feminarum," (anger of the women) which dramatized an incident in Roman history. Up to this time, Roman women had been forbidden to possess more than a half ounce of gold or to wear clothing of various colors.

The women began to rebel against these laws, raging through the streets screaming their defiance. The Roman Senate convened to take some measures to deal with the emergency and invited representatives of the women to come and discuss the matter.

Things come to a climax as the women storm out of the Senate and the men are compelled to make decisions — deciding for repeal of the law.

Shows Rate Jap Approval

TOKYO (AP)—Edd Byrnes runs a comb through his golden locks and makes a crack to Roger Smith. But instead of hep Hollywood chatter, it comes out Japanese.

This is a shock to the American visitor, but it is old stuff to Japanese TV fans. American shows draw big audiences among home viewers; a recent survey showed 10 U. S. programs in the top 20 ratings. Steadily rising in popularity, especially with the younger crowd, is "77 Sunset Strip."

Westerns are a special favorite with Japanese audiences. Among them: "Wagon Train," "Laramie," "Annie Oakley," "Rawhide," "Rifleman," "Bonanza." Strangely, the No. 1 show in the states "Gunsmoke," is not as well liked here.

Nearly all of the filmed series are dubbed in Japanese. Exceptions are a few comedy shows, including "I Love Lucy." The reason is that the humor doesn't translate easily and has to be explained by titles.

American shows can be extremely popular in Japan, but not all of them are sure-fire. "Private Secretary" was a flop because the Japanese couldn't conceive the idea of an aggressive working woman like the one Ann Sothern played.

"Dragnet" never caught on, perhaps because the Japanese did not dig the Jack Webb style of underplaying. Yet "Highway Patrol," less successful in the U. S., is a big hit here. Reason: Less subtlety and more action.

Japanese were disappointed in the June Allyson Show because she acted only as hostess in many of the dramas. They figure if an actress has her name on the program, she should appear in it. TV critics tell me it would be well not to peddle oriental-type shows here. Such a series as "Hong Kong" would be laughed off the air because of Hollywood's conception of what the Far East is like.

Actually, less than half of the American product is suitable for offering here, and fewer than that can be chosen. The government restricts imported shows to 5 hours per channel each week. The limit may be raised soon, and all restrictions may vanish if Japan achieves free trade by 1962, as planned.

Sedalian Takes Part In Pacific Exercise

James A. Beyer, interior communications electrician fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Beyer, 650 East 15th, serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Seminole, operating in the Western Pacific, took part in ceremonies, Feb. 20, marking the 19th anniversary of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force.

Established by the late Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, the force is comprised of ships, landing craft and specialized units with the mission of landing troops in assaults on hostile shores.

Tribune Minucius was played by David Hood and Doug Shoemaker portrayed Marcus Porcius Cato, a Roman consul.

Roman matrons were Janet Benskin, Paula Stribling, and Nickole Stauffacher. John Lamy was the presiding consul of the Senate, with the following cast as senators: John Vandekamp, Harlan Rossman, Larry Horton, Larry Anthes, Robert Winge, Alan Miller, Wayne King, John Miller and John Buchholz.

Rick Strickert served as lictor and Harold Morgan and Jackie Moore as the Praetorian guards. Russell Conn was the augurer and Kerry Taylor narrated the play.

Intra-Mural Plays

Tickets are now on sale for the annual Smith-Cotton intra-mural plays. The plays will be Thursday and Friday, March 9 and 10, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Presented Thursday night will be the two junior high plays, with three senior high plays scheduled for Friday. All casts have been practicing extensively, and are anxious to make their presentations.

Freshman Party

The freshman class will be guests at a party sponsored by the Smith-Cotton Parent-Teachers' Association. The affair is scheduled for this Friday, March 3, beginning at 7 p.m.

The party is an annual event, and is given to honor the class which sells the most PTA memberships on a per-student basis. Frank M. Russell is sponsor of the freshmen, who have had the party for the past several years — a freshman jinx.

Highlight of the evening will be the talent show, with prizes offered to the best participating.

Backward Dance

The last student council sponsored dance of the year was held Friday following the basketball game between the Smith-Cotton Tigers and Columbia Kewpies.

This was the one time during the year when girls can ask the boys for dates to a dance. The idea was termed a huge success as those in attendance enjoyed the evening.

The committee having charge of the dance was composed of Gloria Taylor, Jack Taylor, and Donna Smith.

Tuberculosis

Friday morning all students at Smith-Cotton learned about the coming tuberculosis skin tests which will be administered at S-C on March 6-7.

Explained was the painless procedure that will be followed, as well as the fact that if results appear to be positive, the student in question and his family will be given X-ray examinations at the local hospital — at no charge. All students who return "consent slips" will be tested by qualified personnel during the two-day period.

Test Results

Scores from the Ohio State Psychological Examination which all seniors have taken, and from the Scholastic Aptitude Test which some seniors took in Columbia or Kansas City are now available in the guidance office.

Honor Society

The National Honor Society met for its February meeting Thursday.

More than $150 will be turned over by the group to Sedalia's AAUW to aid in bringing another foreign exchange student to Smith-Cotton next year. The amount represents profits from the recent Sweetheart Dance, sponsored by the Honor Society.

During the meeting, Honor Society pins and guards were passed out members who had ordered them.

Wayne Schupbach is president of the group, Mrs. Marian Knight Wood the sponsor.

Open House At Parsonage In Warsaw Sunday

The Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd McKenney were "at home" Sunday afternoon in Warsaw and welcomed 97 members and friends, who signed the guest book in the pastor's study. The girls who served as hostesses, at different hours, were: Marsha Eaton, Pat Ponder, Cindy Whitaker, Linda Kingma, Katie Neff, Marilyn Reser, Diana Kingma, Linda Howe, Diana Ponder, Janet Deming, Christine Covert and Connie Cooper.

The district superintendent of the Sedalia district, Rev. Mark Horn and wife, were the honor guests, and Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Wadlow, Bolivar, also were in the receiving line.

The color scheme of red and white was carried out at the tea table, decorated with red candles and a beautiful arrangement of flowers, presented by the Trust and Obedience circle.

Refreshments were served by the following: Mrs. Elmer Folmer, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service; Mrs. Norman Newkirk, president of the Trust and Obedience circle; Mrs. Norval Woirhaye, wife of the chairman of the official board, and Mrs. Wadlow.

Mrs. W. O. Tackett, church activities chairman, in charge of the kitchen, was assisted by Mrs. Euba Short, Mrs. Robert Copp, Jr., Mrs. Larry Walthall, Mrs. Leland Whitaker, Mrs. Darace Eaton and Mrs. Bill Cooper.

Throughout the afternoon, pictures of different groups were taken by Fred Huff, and pictures

Finances Disorganized

Months of Strife Leave Congo Split in Six Parts

By PETER GROSE
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Eight months of strife have left the old Belgian Congo splintered into six nominally independent governments.
Finances are hopelessly disorganized. Frontiers are vague. Communication among the self-styled capitals is erratic, and co-operation on even the most routine administrative matters often depends solely on whims.
No mail service exists between Leopoldville and Elizabethville, the largest cities. Telegrams and telephone calls from Leopoldville to South Kasai must be routed through Brussels.
Government treasury in some cases may amount to nothing more than the tribal chief's bank account.
Some of the governments are rich. Katanga and South Kasai collect vast revenues from diamond, copper and uranium mines.
Others verge on bankruptcy—the Lumumbist province of Orient tal is barred by blockade from trade, and food for the population is short.

The main Leopoldville administration is committed this year to pay the army an amount equal to almost the entire government income, revenue derived mainly from taxes on large international firms.
In mountainous, scenic Kivu Province, successive pro-Lumumba heads of the provincial government have arrested and deposed each other.
In much of the province, roughly the size of Pennsylvania, ordinary life has ceased. Electricity and gas in the towns have been interrupted. European residents have fled to the safety of Belgian-administered Ruanda-Urundi.
At the other end of the scale is Katanga, the first region to break away from the central government and now tightly organized into what many consider a police state.
Under the grip of President Moise Tshombe, Katanga has its own flag, radio station and central bank. Belgian money pours into the country and its national army boasts firm discipline under highly paid European officers.
Next door to Katanga is the wealthy mining state of South Kasai, ruled almost as a feudal holding by tribal chief Albert Kalonji. He negotiates with Tshombe and President Joseph Kasavubu of the Leopoldville government almost on terms of equality. Huge revenues from diamond mines go to his own treasury. His aim is to keep his own interests secure in any Congolese federation.
On the world stage the leading players in the Congo drama are the two governments in Leopoldville and Stanleyville, each claiming to be the legitimate government for the whole country.
The Stanleyville regime was established in the name of Patrice Lumumba. Now that he is gone, Premier Antoine Gizenga and other Lumumbists are fighting an uphill battle to retain support and authority.
The central government of Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo still can claim control of about half the country. Though plodding and often ineffective, it is recognized by most of the world and speaks as a member of the United Nations.
Hit by inflation and wage demands, this government is running a deficit equivalent to $16 million a month. This is being met by credit advances from the Congolese Central Bank, which so far has advanced over $120 million.
U.N. financial experts say this situation cannot go on for more than a few months.

Three Smithton Churches Hold Day Of Prayer

The World Day of Prayer was observed by the Methodist, Baptist and Christian Churches of Smithton at the Methodist Church in Smithton at 1:30 p.m. Friday.
The World Day of Prayer chairman, Mrs. Golder Lutjen, conducted the worship service. She explained that 1961 was the 75th year for the World Day of Prayer and that the theme for the year was "Forward Through the Ages." She was assisted in conducting the service by Mrs. Walter Maloney, Mrs. Lloyd Wasson and Mrs. Raymond Craig. The pianist was Mrs. Ben Mahken.
A drama "With Tomorrow Yet to Come," was presented with the following cast: narrator, Mrs. William Lamm; Mrs. Jones, Mrs. B. B. Ihrig; woman 1, Mrs. Edna Sharper; woman 2, Mrs. George Griffin; Mrs. Peabody, Mrs. John Steele; Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Doris Merk; Alice, Mrs. Raymond Reid; Gladys, Mrs. Euel Muschancy; hostess, Mrs. George Meyers; guest 1, Mrs. Vest Street; Indian woman, Miss Clara Farmer; guest 2, Mrs. Cecil Smith; second Indian woman, Mrs. Raymond Demand; Pakistani woman, Mrs. William Green; Japanese woman, Mrs. Katherine Oehrke; African woman, Mrs. Kalo Monsees; Chinese woman, Mrs. Ben Mahken; migrant mother, Mrs. Elroy Grupe; Indian teenage girl, Miss Sharon Mathews; and pianist, Mrs. William Sawford.
A chorus under the direction of Mrs. Shelby Kahrs included the following members, Mrs. Elroy Grupe, Mrs. Cloyd Merk, Mrs. Floyd Schlusing, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Sheldon Smith and Mrs. Lawrence Grupe. The drama was directed by Mrs. Clarence J. Hiltenturg.
Officers were chosen for the World Day of Prayer for 1962 as follows: chairman, Mrs. Doris Merk, secretary, Mrs. Euel Muschancy, and treasurer, Mrs. Raymond Reid.

Club Meets Saturday

Mrs. Earl Hinken, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Chaney was hostess to the members of the Mutual Improvement Club, Saturday afternoon at her home, southwest of Green Ridge.
The chairman of the literature department, Mrs. Ralph Chaney, presented Mrs. Earl Hinken, who reviewed three books by Leonard Hall, a practicing ecologist.
Mrs. Hinken stated she wanted to make the members acquainted with these three books, "Possum Trot," "Country Year," and "Stars Upstream." Mr. Hall is a well known Missouri author and he writes a weekly column in the Post Dispatch.
The president, Mrs. Clarence Mahin, presided at the business session. She told about two articles from the Club Woman magazine, "A Prayer for the New Year," and "How to be a Good Club Woman."
Mrs. Emmett Ruffin was appointed to see about the selection of the student which the Mutual Improvement Club will send on the Sophomore Pilgrimage to Jefferson City, April 11.
There were 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Hinken's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Morris, present.

Liberty PTA Meets Mutual Improvement

The Liberty School PTA met at Liberty School Monday.
The devotional was given by Donnie Ellis. Miss Elsie Thomas gave a talk about teeth and the TB clinic.

Local Group Will Attend VBS Clinic

Nine Sedalians, along with other pastors and leaders of the Harmony Association of Baptist Churches, will attend a two-day Missouri Baptist Vacation Bible School Clinic to be held in Jefferson City Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 27-28.

The group includes: Rev. Walter Fuqua, Mrs. Henry Hansen, Mrs. Kenneth Davidson, Miss Pauline Chamberlin, Mrs. Earl Thomas, Mrs. Cleb McCune, Mrs. Bryan Shoemaker, Mrs. Evelyn Watson and Mrs. Sherman D. Bridgman.

Gov. John M. Dalton will give the first address on the program of the annual clinic.

About 800 vacation Bible School leaders and pastors of Baptist churches from all parts of the state will attend. The clinic is sponsored by the Sunday School department of the Missouri Baptist Convention. Arthur Hicks, state Sunday School secretary of Jefferson City, will direct the program. He will be assisted by Bob Patterson, clinic leader, from the Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn.

The clinic will offer specialized training for Vacation Bible school workers, a preview of 1961 school materials and demonstrations of approved methods in conducting the schools.

A special address by Dr. Earl Harding, Jefferson City, executive secretary of the state Baptist convention, on "The Vacation Bible School in the Total Denominational Program" will close the clinic on Tuesday afternoon.

The clinic precedes a series of one-day Bible School clinics in the 82 Baptist district associations in Missouri. Schools were held last year in 1,534 churches and missions throughout the state. The goal for 1961 is 1,650 schools. The schools last year were attended by 140,943 Baptist children between the ages of 3 and 16.

The Sedalia group attending the state clinic will make up the faculty for the Harmony Association one-day clinic which will be held in Sedalia April 11 at the First Baptist Church, Sixth and Lamine.

Aim of the Extension Office Is to Serve the Community

THE STAFF of Pettis County Extension Office are shown working on one of the many things they do and make plans for in the office. They are left to right: Owen Fox, Associate County Agent; Miss Opal O'Brian, Home Agent; Lloyd Lewellen, Associate County Agent; Mrs. Shirley Roe, secretary and receptionist; and Merle Vaughan, Pettis County Extension Agent.

(Editor's Note: This is another in this continuing series concerning various offices in the city and county, their responsibilities and staffs.)

The Pettis County Extension Office, located in the Central Business College building, Sixth and Massachusetts, is always a busy place. There are five persons working full time, and two part time.

The office is under the direction of Merle Vaughan, County Agent. Miss Opal O'Brian has been the County Home Agent since October, 1953. Owen Fox is Associate County Agent, and has been there for the past four years. Lloyd Lewellen, Associate County Agent, has also been there four years. Shirley Roe is the secretary and receptionist. Two part time workers are Mrs. Virginia Murray, soil technician, and Larry Merridith, Smith-Cotton High School student, who works after school.

This office, Merle Vaughan stated, has a peculiar setup. In 1914, under the Smith-Leven Act, the Cooperative Extension became part of the land grant college. In 1913 the Missouri Legislature authorized the County Courts to approve funds for a County Farm Advisor. In 1943 a law required County Courts to appropriate on the basis of valuation. In a third class county with over 16 million valuation it was necessary to put up $5,000 and a limit of $1 per rural per capita or about $11,000. The state and federal funds pay the salaries of the County Agent and the Home Agent and part of the salary of the third and fourth agents. Local funds go for the rest of the salaries on the third and fourth agents, the office secretary, mileage, rent, telephone, postage, supplies, and janitor.

There is a County Agriculture Extension Council composed of two persons from each township, which has an executive board of seven with Virgil Ellis as chairman.

The Council makes financial arrangements and the number of agents depend on the funds available. The Council, the Court and representatives from the University of Missouri sit down together and made the budget.

The Agents have the rank of instructors at the University and are supervised by the University but work out the plans with the local people. The Council approves agents into the County and must give approval for transfer.

The Agent is the County director of the local staff and coordinates the work of the staff.

This is the work of Merle Vaughan, who takes the lead in working with the people in the county, with the Council in securing funds, is responsible for maintaining an efficient office and for the agriculture program of the County. Also, in the livestock production programs, livestock disease control, soil fertilizing, crop insect control, conservation of resources such as terracing and ponds, and work with the related agencies as A.S.C., the Conservation Commission from where he orders trees and fish, and with the Farm Home Administration.

Vaughan pointed out that the services of the County Extension Office are not for the rural people alone, but for anyone wanting to take advantage of them. The soil testing of lawns and gardens, the 4-H clubs, information on various things. If people in town have a need, they are welcome to go to the office or call at any time.

Miss Opal O'Brian as County Home Agent assists in the planning and carrying out the Extension program and to provide educational information in home economics and related subjects. Her major duties are to assist build character and learn leadership.

At present there are 721 4-H members enrolled in 34 4-H clubs. Owen's other big responsibility is the supervision of the Pettis County Soil Testing Laboratory, and of course, there are many smaller things for which he is also responsible.

Shirley Roe, the secretary and receptionist, does all the secretarial work for all four agents, serves as the receptionist, answers the telephone, takes care of the correspondence, hands out all the bulletins, and there are about 500 different bulletins available on farm and home topics, tries to keep the bulletin board timely.

Mrs. Roe takes all the soil samples, does all the bookkeeping and has two bank accounts for the office, soil testing, cow testing, Extension Clubs and 4-H Clubs. She must keep track of the bulletins and all telephone calls in and out. Shirley has been at the Extension Office since last May.

There were 589 farm and home visits made for the total group, 3,400 office calls, 5,103 incoming and outgoing telephone calls, 850 news stories went out of the office, 251 radio talks and four television shows were given, 8,438 bulletins with 4-H circulars, and 308 meetings were held by the four agents during the year.

It is the job of Owen Fox to keep the equipment properly adjusted in the soil testing laboratory, to see that the machines are operating right, because they cannot be off even a fraction for the testing. To keep the supplies ready for use and mix what needs to be mixed.

The soil is brought in a sack and given to Mrs. Roe to be tested. The soil is spread on a cloth and dried out. After school Larry Merridith comes in, rolls it with a rolling pin and then puts it through a sieve because it must be real fine before it is ready for testing.

Mrs. Virginia Murray then tests the soil. She is excellent in her work and has been doing this work for about eight years. It takes about two hours to run 15 samples and she has to do her work with precision.

It is Merle Vaughan, then, who determines what the soil needs and recommends on the sheet what fertilizer is needed. The work of the Extension office takes the cooperation of the entire staff, for each is dependent on the other for some part of each program.

$7,000 Goal Is Set For Heart Drive

Today is Heart Sunday. The goal is $7,000 and a percent of this is left in Pettis County for rehabilitation purposes. The rest goes for research, and research has already done wonders in its discovery of heart ailments of various kinds and what to do about them, even to the most delicate surgery which is saving hundreds of lives.

When the knock comes this afternoon open your door, open your heart, and give. If there is no response to the knock of one of the 400 volunteers calling on their neighbors in the city and county, then an envelope, which they hope will be used, will be left.

Mrs. Bill Atkinson is campaign chairman, and for several weeks her home has been a place of turmoil getting ready for the drive. There has been a constant running in and out of people helping to get the campaign under way, there was a great deal of telephoning to be done, typing to be done, and compiling all the needed material for each worker into packages.

Fred Cnic is president of the Pettis County Heart Association, and he, too, has been working.

Everything is ready and the volunteer workers are hoping that the people of Pettis County are ready, too. Ready to help them reach the goal of $7,000 and to give the heart beat that is the difference between life and death to someone they will never see, or a loved one—perhaps, even, themselves.

Past Presidents Club Has Guest Speaker

The Past Presidents Club met in the green room of Bothwell Hotel for a dessert luncheon with 24 members present.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Al Schreiner. Mrs. Ernest Martin, president, presided at the business meeting.

Mrs. Ray Lippard, program chairman, introduced, Mrs. Col Beuces from WAFB. She gave an interesting talk on Morocco. She told about the way of living in Morocco, the clothes, furnishings and the religious habits.

The next meeting will be in November with installation of officers.

Scouts Attend Honor Dinner

Two Sedalia Eagle scouts were in attendance at the annual Eagle Recognition Dinner held Thursday night at the First Methodist Church in Marshall.

The dinner is held each year to honor Scouts who attained Scouting's highest award during the previous year.

Speaker at the occasion was Dr. M. Earle Collins, president of Missouri Valley College, who told the boys that they, as individuals, were the "strength of the nation." He further challenged them to complete their education.

Attending were Waymond Hoffens, a member of Post 56, and Danny Muller, a member of Troop 66. Kit Taylor, also a member of Post 56, was the other eligible Sedalia Eagle Scout.

L. E. Moody, Scout executive for the Lake of the Ozarks Council, delivered the charge to the boys.

Twenty-five of the 32 boys who attained the rank of Eagle last year were in attendance. These boys came from the entire 11-county area making up the Lake of the Ozarks Council.

Prairie Ridge Club Holds Dinner Meet

The Prairie Ridge Extension Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harry Tevis with 17 members present. Mrs. J. D. Gregory became a new member.

Two dishes were prepared for the dinner by Mrs. Forrest Reid and Mrs. Dale Norfleet. These were the Swedish meat balls and beef stroganoff.

Mrs. Norfleet gave a lesson on "how to identify the different cuts of meat and how to prepare them for serving."

A collection was taken of $5 for the Heart Fund. International reading was given by Mrs. Jason Chamberlain assisted by Mrs. Joe Bill Reid and Mrs. David Walk. Articles were collected for the Crippled Children's Center.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Wayne Davis March 22. A lesson on clothing and on citizenship and defense will be presented.

Bea Kronhart, county health nurse, explained the TB patch tests and the group voted to sponsor the tests for school pupils and pre-school children.

A panel discussion was held by the school board on how school money is spent. C. A. Repp, county school superintendent, gave a talk on bills of interest to be voted on.

ATTENTION ALL CITIZENS OF SEDALIA

At the City Council meeting last Monday night there was a petition presented to the City Council to oust the members of the Sedalia Water Board.

I am a taxpayer and heavy water user in Sedalia, we use quite a bit of water in our manufacture of building block and bricks. I also furnish water for approximately 14 apartments. I would not want to see the water board have to raise the water rate but being a businessman I know that a business cannot be operated in the red. As a property owner, I naturally want to see Sedalia grow and become prosperous. I know that no business can be operated without a sufficient amount of revenue to pay the bills.

When Sedalia voted the bonds to buy the Water Company, Mr. Bagby was our Mayor. He knew this was a good thing for the City to own its own water company. At the time the bonds were voted, it was thought that the City could operate the water company without any increase in rates, which this company has done for the past 4 years.

Now, bear in mind, that before the City acquired the water company the then owners of the water company advised the public that they would request a 50% rate increase from the Public Service Commission. Therefore, the water users of the City have enjoyed the same rates for 4 years without any increase and we all know the prices in the past 4 years on labor and materials have increased several times. It has evidently come to a point where there will have to be an increase to make ends meet.

I understand that Mr. William Couhig (proprietor of the Bard Drug Company) was doing all the talking at the Council meeting Monday night and was trying to get the Council to oust the members of the Water Board. He stated they were given $170,000.00 in the treasury to start doing business with. I think if Mr. Couhig had taken time to check he would have found out there was $162,000.00 left in the maintenance and new construction account. This money was to finish several projects under way, including the 8" main that runs from Engineer east on 16th Street to Marshall Avenue, north on Marshall Avenue to 12th Street, then to the City Airport. Bear in mind this money could be used only for these projects. Too, if Mr. Couhig had checked further, he would have found the City had very little operating money to start the newly owned water company.

First, they owed $14,000.00 in taxes that had to be paid. The Water Board also pays the City 5% on the gross amounts, except on the fire hydrants. Last year they paid the City approximately $16,000.00. This year they will pay the City approximately $17,000.00. The City has always demanded their money and sometimes the water board has had to borrow money to pay them.

We all know this petition activity dates back to the fishing deal some time ago.

These petitions that were circulated to oust the water board were started by a handful of individuals. In our neighborhood, they were circulated by a 12-year-old boy. Any person can start a petition and can get some people to sign a petition for or against anything.

When different branches of our City Government such as the street and alley department are short of funds, they have to start looking someplace for revenue. As you recall about a year ago that a street program was brought forth where they taxed all property owners where the work was done. I personally know that on Harrison Street where I live there was some oil put on the street and it lay there for approximately 7 or 8 days before any gravel was applied on the street. By this time the oil they had put on had dried or soaked into the street. The gravel they applied, washed off with the first rains. I went to the City Hall and paid my assessment on the street as did all other taxpayers where the streets were repaired. I did not say anything about this because I knew the City probably needed the money and couldn't operate without additional revenue. Suppose someone had started a petition to oust the Mayor and City Council for doing this. I am sure there would have been plenty of signers on this petition.

If the citizens will notice, there has been a substantial increase in our other utility costs, but no one got a petition out to fight them because that increase was probably necessary to keep operating in the black.

When our hospital board needs additional revenue they just raise the rates on rooms and other services, there was no petition circulated to remove this board.

But after 4 years the water board finds they cannot operate successfully on the present amount of revenue they were taking in. So they had to turn for additional revenue the only way they could and that was to raise the water rates. The Mayor and the Council evidently are convinced the water board needs additional revenue as they granted them a 15% increase.

Because they stated they would have to raise the water rates, a handful of people started circulating these petitions trying to get the Mayor and City Council to oust this board and all they were trying to do was find a source of revenue, so our water company would not be in the red.

Let's look and see who are members of the Water Board:

One is Mr. Herman Bloess, owner and operator of the Looney-Bloess Lumber Co.

Mr. Ross Bothwell, successful insurance businessman, and farmer.

Mr. Carleton Kelly, who came here with Pittsburgh Corning and is one of their chief accountants. Mr. Kelly was on our City Council for a number of years and was Finance Chairman. Mr. Kelly is a fine man on the Water Board.

The fourth member of the Water Board is Mr. Dorsey Walters who owns and operates his own grocery store.

All these men are successful business men, but they were accused at the City Hall by one of the speakers of probably "Taking something under the table." How ridiculous can this get? Two of these board members, Mr. Kelly and Mr. Walters were recently appointed by the Mayor and City Council. What earthly excuse could the Mayor and Council give these two men for firing them when all they were doing was trying to run the Water Company successfully?

Monday night at the City Hall when this was all taking place, Couhig mentioned that Mr. Bagby was one who had called a councilman and suggested to him that they give the Water Board a 35% increase. I talked to Mr. Bagby before he left town and he stated he did not suggest to any councilman to give the Water Board a 35% increase. He said he had talked to one of the Councilmen and had only suggested they would probably need an increase and the Board should know about what they would need but there was no amount specified.

One of Mr. Bagby's wishes was to keep the Water Company out of politics and to keep it from becoming a political football and it seems that it has now become just that.

These gentlemen overlook the provision in the original Ordinance authorizing the bond issue for purchase of the property, which plainly states that once in every three years the City shall cause a study to be made by a firm of nationally known engineers and that said engineers, after completing their study, shall make a report and recommendation concerning the rate to be charged consumers. This is for the reason that the property must not only be maintained by the bonds which were issued for the purchase of the property and the interest must be paid as the same becomes due. This provision in the Board Ordinance and the favorable financial record of the City no doubt induced purchasers over the country to buy the bonds, and this required study would assure the bondholders that a sufficient rate would be charged so as to properly maintain the property and pay interest and the bonds as they became due.

To me it is not a laughing joke that the Water Board selected Black and Veatch, a nationally known firm of engineers. The members of the Water Board being laymen, but intelligent men, have a duty to follow the advice and recommendations of the report of the Engineers which advised that a rate increase of 35% was the absolute minimum if the water works property is to be maintained and extended as the City grows and the interest and principal on the bonds are promptly paid and a reasonable reserve held for emergencies which are expressly required under the ordinance authorizing the bond issue and purchase of the property.

In other words, the proposed 35% rate increase was not the suggestion of the Board of Public Works at all but resulted from the study required under the ordinance when the bonds were issued and the property was purchased for the City. It would seem to any reasonable person that if sufficient rate is not charged to keep the property in good operating condition and a reasonable reserve for emergencies, and for payment of interest and the principal on the bonds, that the bondholders may move in on the City as they have an absolute right to do under the original ordinance if the city defaults.

I understand that the Board of Public Works is opposed to fishing, boating and swimming in the water only because the Sedalia plant does not have the equipment to process and purify the water. If enough revenue can be obtained to buy the proper equipment so as to process the water, when it is used for such purposes, and if the State Board of Health will leave us on an approved water supply, it is my understanding that no Board member would object to the lake being used for recreational purposes.

It should not be forgotten that our present interest rate on the bonds is only 3 1/2%. If through default on the part of the City, the bondholders took over and a problem of re-financing was ever incurred, we would have a poor credit rating among investors and in any event would have to pay a very substantial increase in the interest rate.

My name was also mentioned that I had called a member of the Council and also suggested a 35% increase. I was talking to one of the councilmen sometime ago and the water increase was brought up. He and I agreed they would probably need an increase in the water rate, but nothing was said about the amount they would need.

This board hired Major Hagar as general manager of the Water Company. Mr. Hagar came here highly recommended and his credentials proved he was a highly qualified man for this position and it seems they want to fire him too. The Water Board had interviewed several applicants for this position, but Mr. Hagar seemed to be best qualified for this position.

All Couhig said was read from a prepared speech at last Monday night's Council meeting. The people are all wondering who wrote the speech. Also, at this meeting they had a number of small children carrying signs that read "NO FISHING."

Citizens of Sedalia, the only reason these few people are asking the Mayor and Council to oust the Water Board is because they will not allow the public in the city and county to fish and swim in the water that you drink.

I put this article in the paper because my name was brought up in the Council chambers and the statement made was very untrue. I think it is time we start holding up for the four men serving on the Water Board instead of trying to crucify them for maintaining and keeping a successful Water Company.

Horsepower, Manpower On Down Grade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manpower is following horsepower in giving way to machinepower in the nation's farms.

Horses have become such an unimportant element in agricultural production that the government has stopped making its annual inventory of the number of work animals in use.

At last count, the number of horses and mules on farms had declined from a peak of more than 25 million head 30 years ago to around three million a year ago.

There has been almost as phenomenal a decline in the use of farm manpower. Latest government reports show farm employment averaged only 7,118,000 in 1960. Twice that many people worked on farms 35 years ago. The decline during the last 10 years was nearly 30 per cent.

Officials figure that if push-button farming continues to advance during the next 10 years as it has during the last decade, farm employment in 1970 may be down to around four million or less.

The advent of the machine age has brought spectacular increases in farm output, and further increases are forecast for the future.

Technological progress is making human labor inefficient. With bigger and better machines, improved production practices, better seeds, more and better fertilizers, and pesticides, it is possible for a single worker to operate many more acres of land than formerly and to care for more livestock.

As a consequence, the number of farms—and hence farmers and family workers—has declined and will continue to decline.

Latest census reports show that 80 per cent of the farms now use tractors. This compared with 63 per cent 10 years ago, 15 per cent 20 years ago and 2 per cent 40 years ago. There are an estimated 5.1 million tractors on farms now compared with 900,000 30 years ago.

There have been similar increases in motor trucks, grain combines and other harvesters, mechanical hay balers, milking machines and other labor-saving devices.

As a result the hired hand is being displaced. More and more farms are able to carry on with family workers. The number of hired hands employed during 1960 averaged only 1.8 million, or less than half a worker per farm. It used to run around 3.3 million a year.

The decline in the number of farms as well as the number of farmers has been reflected in a sharp increase in the size of farms. The last census showed U.S. farms averaged 302.4 acres in 1959. This compares with 242.2 acres in 1954, 174 in 1940, 148 in 1920 and 133.7 in 1880.

Mrs. Louisa Mae Dugan Phone Company Employee Retires After 27 Years

MRS. FRANCES DENT, left, president of the Sedalia Chapter of Telephone Pioneers of America, is shown as she presented to Mrs. Mae Dugan, who is retiring after 27 years continuous service with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., a life membership in the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Mrs. Louisa Mae Dugan, wife of Tom E. Dugan, 519 West Third, has retired from the Southwest Bell Telephone Company after 27 years of continuous service.

When Mrs. Dugan started to work the first time in 1920, for the telephone company, she signed her name as Louisa Mae Potter.

as she signs everything, "Mae Dugan."

"What other name?" Mae went on to know. She had completely forgotten she had another name, and when she finally realized that the company wanted her to put Louisa in front of the Mae like she had done originally, she couldn't remember how to spell Louisa. For years all her checks had come from the company with just the name "Mae Dugan," but all at once they wanted the Louisa put on—which she gladly signed.

Mrs. Watson said that Mae was one of the sparks of life in the office for she always saw the bright side of everything and was a favorite with all of the girls.

On Feb. 10, a party was given for her in the lounge of the telephone building, with all departments participating. The person retiring is always asked who they would like to assist at the party and Mrs. Dugan chose Mrs. Jeanne Heisterberg and Miss Mary Jane Williams, with whom she had worked so many years and they had had much fun together.

The party was in the form of a tea with the centerpiece a large arrangement of spring flowers on which a bronze colored ribbon with gold lettering, "Mae's Retirement—1961." On either side were yellow lighted tapers and the room was lighted only with the candlelight.

At one end of the table was a silver coffee urn from which Mrs. Martha Kelley served coffee and at the other end Miss Mary Jack's served punch from a large punch bowl.

The honoree received a number of lovely gifts, the main gifts, however, being a coffee table and magazine rack.

She was presented a life membership plaque by Mrs. Frances Dent, president of the Sedalia Chapter of Telephone Pioneers of America, part of the Charles S. Gled Chapter of Kansas City.

Kenneth Yunker, Kansas City, traffic superintendent of Sedalia, was unable to be present and present her the billfold which he will do later.

Mrs. Watson gave a short history and a humorous one on Mae's 27 years with the telephone company.

A gold life time membership card to Communications Workers of America, Local 6301, and a check in the amount of $100, as is the practice of the Union when one retires, was presented to her, with Miss Mary Jane Williams, a steward of the Sedalia unit, making the presentation.

On Monday night, Feb. 20, a handkerchief shower was given for Mrs. Dugan at the Old Missouri Homestead by her co-workers of the Sedalia unit, Local 6301. A large group attended and she received many beautiful handkerchiefs. She has an unusual fondness for pretty handkerchiefs, so she was delighted with the lovely assortment.

Now that she is retiring Mae, who is an immaculate housekeeper, is going to have time to do the things about her home that she wants to do, and to entertain, because she loves to entertain.

She will have more time to be with her father, Grant Potter, who lives one mile east of Beaman, and who celebrated his 91st birthday on Feb. 1. Each year Mae has a birthday party for her father and this year she had plenty of time to get ready for it since she is retired.

She is a member of the First Baptist Church and will be able to attend regularly now, something she has never been able to do because of working so many Sundays.

Another thing she likes to do is to bowl — so — with plenty of time on her hands now she is

Youth Business Program

Pettis County has been asked to be a pilot county in Missouri for a new Youth Business Program. The program is not a project, but rather an activity.

About nine meetings will be held during March and April. In these nine meetings, the group will study four businesses (one discussion and one tour). Mr. Ralph Grimes will be the organizational leader and will meet with the group for each of their meetings.

For the first year the program will include only boys. Their age should be between 16 and 21 years of age. The desired size of the group will be about 20. The Explorer Scouts, FFA and 4-H members have been invited to participate in the Youth Business Program. Other boys this age will be included in the program if the desired quota is not filled.

The 4-H members who have indicated they would like to participate in the Youth Business Program are as follows: Tommy Grimes, Duane Snow, Don Weliver, Richard Wissman, Ernie Dow, Jimmy Wood, Robert Leftwich, Larry Wilson, Charles Bulmeier, George Schutte, Lyndon Goodwin, William Goodwin, Kim Dabner, and Robert Mewes.

The topics and business leaders selected to participate in the program for the first year are as follows: Assembly and storage—Bill Beckley, MFA; Transportation—William Ward, Hussman and Roper Freight Lines; Retailing—George Moyer, Safeway Store; and Credit—Francis Mergen, Production Credit Association. Other topics and discussion leaders may be selected for another year.

The educational objectives of the Youth Business Program are as follows: (1) To assist older youth increase level of knowledge in principles of business. (2) To provide older youth with opportunities to study operations of business enterprises. (3) To assist business with conveying youth situations that will increase their level of knowledge relative to success or failure in business. (4) Pick up ideas for careers opportunities. There will be no records to keep and there will be no grades given in the program but the group may enter an essay contest concerning what they got from the program if they wish. Mr. Grimes and the business leaders met Thursday afternoon with me to make a final outline of the program. The dates and other information will be sent to those participating in the program this week.

Attend District Tractor Meeting
Two Pettis County 4-H Tractor Leaders attended the district 4-H tractor leaders clinic at Warrensburg on Wednesday. Those attending were Ted Mergen, Quisenberry Hustlers 4-H Club and Everett Vannoy, Smelser 4-H Club.

4-H Community Leaders Conference

The 4-H Community Leaders Conference will be held at the REA Building Thursday afternoon, March 2. The group is asked to be there at 1:30 p.m. so that we may close promptly at 3:30 p.m.

An informal type program has been set up as follows:

- I. Really, What Is My Job As Community Leader?
- II. Are the Committees in My Club Functioning?
- III. Discussion and Exchange of Ideas

- (1) Club Discipline problems
- (2) Holding 4-H Members Interest
- (3) Demonstrations and talks
- (4) Tours
- (5) Local Achievement or Parents Night
- (6) Holding first Year Members
- (7) Holding older members
- (8) Others

start to begin feeding birds and other wildlife. Remember, that last year so many birds and wildlife were killed because of the lack of food and shelter. More information can be obtained from the Pettis County Conservation Agent, Chester Vermaas.

College of Agriculture Scholarships

Thirty-six donors with the scholarships they are offering for students during the 1961-62 school year are listed on an application form which can be obtained from the County Extension Office. The application must be mailed to the Deans Office, College of Agriculture, New Agricultural Building, Columbia, Mo. by July 1, 1961.

Additional Scholarships will be available to students with 4-H backgrounds and are listed in our 1961 Awards and Events Handbook which we will be receiving very soon. Standard report forms and supporting information serves as application forms for these scholarships. All applications are to be into the club office by April 1, 1961. For information concerning these scholarships please contact the County Extension Office.

Missouri Bank Supports 4-H Foundation

The Missouri banks have supported the Missouri and the National 4-H Foundation. For the fifth consecutive year, under the chairmanship of Mr. C. L. Harper, Vice president of Sturgeon State Bank, the banks of Missouri have contributed to the support of the Missouri and the National 4-H Foundation. This year 181 banks contributed a total of $2,260. This is both the largest number of banks to participate in any one previous year and the largest amount of money contributed.

Sweden Born Bachelor Is Fixing Slums

By BOB BARNES

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A place of shabby bars and buck-a-day hotels, of empty buildings and idle men—that's East 5th Street.

A place of fish houses and junk shops, dirty windows and trash lots. A street that well-dressed folks avoid, where policemen go in pairs.

It's a skid row, like all the other skid rows the world over. But there's a difference.

This one is on the upgrade.

The reason: a 56-year-old Swedish-born bachelor who spends his own money fixing up other people's eyesores.

There's no gimmick. Frank Bronson simply believes that if you cast your bread on the waters, "You're bound to get it back."

The idea is catching hold.

"People seem to think that just because it's skid row, everything should go to the dogs," Bronson says. "That's absolutely wrong. You can have pride of ownership down here, too."

"All it takes is one person to get the ball rolling," he says. "If somebody just starts, others will follow."

Bronson isn't talking through his hat.

He bought the seven-story Hotel Morris 2½ years ago.

"You can't imagine how bad it was," he says. "No paint, dirty, was," he says. "No paint, dirty, here, practically."

He couldn't stand the mess. A contractor and carpenter himself, he soon had carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and painters swarming through the 180-room hostelry. He planted trees out front and fired 40 per cent of his help for inefficiency and drunkenness. He cleaned out the bookies and bootleggers.

He wasn't out to make it a Biltmore—"just good and clean, nothing fancy."

His own house in order, he turned to the neighborhood. He called on his neighbors and suggested they paint their buildings, take down old signs and fix broken windows.

He was met with shrugs. "It's a nice idea, but—" they said.

Would they let him do these things? Fine.

He paid wreckers to haul off a small ramshackle building already condemned by the city. He had six truckloads of debris hauled off a cluttered lot. He hired four painters to scrape old paint from another building and apply two new coats. He had unsightly old signs taken down, broken windows repaired.

Nor did he stop with his own block. In the next block he has done the same on seven or eight buildings—and he's still going.

Bronson's work shows. And, he says, it pays.

"My occupancy rate has increased 100 per cent," he says. "The values have gone up 15 to 25 per cent already."

He came to this country when he was 20 with $25 in his pocket. The depression wiped him out but he started anew. Now he has almost $300,000 invested, although he drives a 1947 car.

SAY IT WITH MUSIC—Orchestra leader George Melachrino has a sad song for the burglars who have sacked his London house twice. His ditty makes it clear that there's nothing more to take.

Mary Martha Circle Holds Regular Meet

The Mary Martha Circle of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church met with Mrs. Lloyd Satterwhite, 1016 Wilkerson, Thursday with nine members and two guests present. Rev. Klemme was also present.

Mrs. Richard Meisenheimer gave the devotional concerning prayer. Mrs. Harry Williams gave the program, "On Black Bay Mission, Bilouxi, Miss."

The group decided to inquire about adopting a lady from Emmaus Home at Marthasville, and started plans to assemble articles for a "Keep them warm pack."

Fidelis Class Holds Contributive Luncheon

The Fidelis Sunday School Class of the East Sedalia Baptist Church met Thursday for its regular class meeting.

A contributive dish luncheon was served at the noon hour. Hostesses were Mrs. Charley Thomas, Mrs. T. E. Shoemaker, Mrs. Edna Wither and Mrs. Edyth McFarland. Mrs. Christina Pinkepank.

There were 29 present. Mrs. Earl Parker, president, had charge of the meeting. Reports were given. The group voted to give a sum of money, as a payment, on the purchase of a hospital bed.

Mrs. H. R. Brinkman gave the devotional on Wisdom. The program consisted of readings, given by Mrs. Edyth McFarland, Mrs. Gertrude Decker and Mrs. Louise Decker.

A musical jamboree was held and each one present had a special part. Mrs. Parker was the accompanist.

Houstonia Marthas Guild Meets Tuesday

The Martha's Guild of the Houstonia Community Church met Tuesday with Mrs. Wallace Jenkins. There were 13 members present.

Mrs. Murray Wood gave the devotional and Mrs. James Blackburn the prayer. Plans were made for the regional meeting to be held Feb. 27 and 28 at the church.

The group worked on things to send to missions. The hostess served refreshments during the social hour.

Green Ridge PTA Holds Regular Meet Wednesday

The Green Ridge PTA held its regular February meeting Wednesday night, at the school auditorium with the men of the PTA organization in charge of the evening's activities.

John Harvey, Jr., acted as presiding chairman. The meeting opened with the group singing, "America" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," led by Leon Morgan. Loy Smith gave the devotional on "Heritage" and closed with the PTA prayer.

The boy's double trio, accompanied by Jack Chambers, presented two vocal selections.

During the business session the members voted to buy some new curtains for the stage some time in the near future.

Superintendent of Green Ridge schools, Virgil Oglevie, introduced the new music instructor, Miss Beverly Tising, and announced the Spring Music Festival.

A skit, "Happy Birthday to the PTA," was presented by the following: Harlan Close, J. B. Carter, Mrs. Melvin Ray, Mrs. Frank Walz, Mrs. James Reed, Jim Stark, Mrs. Leroy Ryan and G. W. Hamby.

Presidents from the preceding years were recognized and the following past presidents were presented corsages from the PTA Chapter: Mrs. Vernon Arnett, Mrs. Waldo Harbit, Mrs. Forrest Calvert, Mrs. Frances Baslee and the president of 1960-61, Mrs. John Harvey, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. John Butterwick presented the corsages.

The following nominating committee was appointed: Leon Morgan, Mrs. J. B. Carter, Mrs. Charles Phillips and G. W. Hamby.

After the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served in the school lunch room by Raymond LaRue, Max Elliott, Harold Yunt and Roy Chaney.

Elects New Officers

At a meeting of the Welcome Wagon Newcomer's Club held Tuesday, Feb. 21, at LeRoy's Eileen Finley was elected president; Betty Elam, assistant vice-president; Clara Spano, secretary and Kay Gunter, treasurer.

The program was given by Homaker's with Mrs. Herb Studer as the speaker and Jack Shoemaker showing the pictures.

Door prizes from Homemaker's to Marjorie Lynch, Pal Wells and Fern Vestal.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Hazel Licklider

Mrs. Hazel Licklider, 68, 1708 South Ohio, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Florence Walkup, 1013 South Lamine, at 2 p.m. Friday. She had been in failing health for the past three years and had been bedfast since last November.

Mrs. Licklider was born at Green Ridge, Aug. 13, 1892, the daughter of the late Everett and Martha Anderson Wadleigh. She had lived all of her life in the Green Ridge and Sedalia communities.

She was married at Sedalia, Aug. 13, 1918, to N. B. Licklider. They were the parents of one son. Mr. Licklider died March 25, 1942.

Mrs. Licklider was a member of the Congregational Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her only son, Norwood Licklider, Medford, Ore.; four sisters, Mrs. Lucinda Proctor, Mrs. Opal Goering, 1615 South Prospect, Mrs. Alma Johnson, 913 South Vermont, Mrs. Florence Wadleigh, 1013 South Lamine; one brother, Louis H. Wadleigh, Green Ridge; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 10 a.m. Monday.

The Rev. Leonard Reifel, pastor of the Congregational Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Mt. Vernon Cemetery near Pilot Grove, Mo. The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Thomas A. Moore

Thomas A. Moore, 96, well known retired groceryman of the Beaman community, died at the Bothwell Hospital at 10:40 a.m. Saturday. He had been in poor health for several years and had been a patient at the hospital since Jan. 1.

He was born in Saline County, April 2, 1873, the son of the late William Alexander and Ann E. Parsley Moore. He lived most of his life in the Beaman community where he operated a grocery store.

He was married at Longwood, Mo., Dec. 27, 1890, to Miss Orpha Cunningham. They were the parents of eight children. One son and one daughter preceded Mr. Moore in death, James Moore and Mrs. Ollie Renison.

Mr. Moore was preceded in death by all of his brothers and sisters, Frank Moore, Ed Moore, George Moore, John Moore, Mrs. Ethel Tower and Mrs. Mayme Strauss.

Mrs. Moore died Nov. 11, 1945. After her death Mr. Moore resided in Kansas City for several years before returning to Sedalia.

Dr. James L. Holloway

Dr. James L. Holloway, former Sedalian, who celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary on Sept. 25, 1960, died at Dallas, Tex., Jan. 28, according to word received by friends in Sedalia Friday.

Dr. Holloway was born Sept. 25, 1860, on a farm near Columbia, Mo., and after graduating from the State Normal School at Kirksville, he came to Sedalia at the age of 22 to accept the position as principal of Broadway School which included the high school at that time. He served as principal for seven years, resigning to go to Fort Smith, Ark., in 1889. His wife's illness caused him to become interested in the study of osteopathy, and in 1904 he was graduated from the American College of Osteopathy, after which he went to Dallas, Tex., where he practiced until his retirement in 1937.

He served as president of the Texas State Osteopathic Association in 1907, and sparked the fight that won osteopathy legal approval and a seat on the state medical examining board there. He was president of the American Osteopathic Association in 1912.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Neece of Dallas, and a son, Admiral James L. Holloway, retired, a former commandant at Annapolis Naval Academy, who later commanded the Naval forces in Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean areas.

His wife, who died in 1943, was the former Marian Leaming of this city.

Marshall Izen

Marshall Izen to Appear Here On Sunday, March 13

Marshall Izen who will appear here March 13, at Smith-Cotton High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Sedalia Symphony Society is a gentleman of multiple talents and extensive theatrical background who brings to the concert stage a unique presentation. Mr. Izen in addition to his abilities as a concert pianist, presents musical satires bite into the foibles of the concert and operatic world. Singing all of the parts himself, he can digest Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" or "Die Walkure" into a few delightful minutes. Lieder singers or bad Italian operas are often the brunt of Mr. Izen's pointed comments. Sometimes he uses sophisticated garrulous puppets; there is a white haired pianist who plays on a miniature Steinway, or a complete Italian opera with miniature settings. The top of the piano is used for a stage. Mr. Izen works the puppets with one hand, provides the music with his other hand, and also participates in the activities.

He will augment the unusually fine Sedalia Symphony, under the baton of Abe Rosenthal. A fine classical selection will be presented.

Life Length May Rise To Exceed 120

CHICAGO (AP)—Life expectancy of 120 years may be common in America by the end of this century, and some persons may live to be 140.

Even longer life expectancies will not be improbable in the 21st century, if scientific advances continue.

This is what the Journal of the American Medical Association said Friday.

"Life expectancy in America in the last half of this century seems destined to approach that which the Hunza male has experienced for many generations," the journal said.

Hunza, a little known frontier land in northern Pakistan, has a population of around 25,000. Entrance visas and rugged terrain have made Hunza virtually inaccessible to Western world tourists.

The journal said evidence that the Hunza males live to be 120 or even 140 years of age is not documented with reliable statistics but is believed within the limits of possibility.

The Hunza people eat little animal protein, few eggs and no prepared vitamin supplements. Their principal diet is whole grains, fresh fruit, fresh vegetables, goat's milk and cheese, rice and grape wine.

"If scientific advances continue to be productive, and there is little doubt but that this will be factual—with the eradication of infection, prevention of cancer, and inhibition of progression of degenerative diseases—life expectancy should approach that of the fabled Hunzas by the end of this century."

Eldorado Extension Hold Meeting Monday

The Eldorado Extension Club met Monday for its regular February meeting with six members present.

The lesson on buying and cooking meat was given by Mrs. Buel Maxwell and Mrs. Frank Hayes.

Work was done on cancer pads and on jewel boxes.

The next meeting will be held March 22 with Mrs. Willard McKeehan.

BEAUTY WINNER—This stamp won out over 5,900 others in use around the world to be picked the most beautiful by a jury of artists and stamp collectors, assembled in Monte Carlo. First placed on sale in 1955, it carries a portrait of Queen Elizabeth and a view of Windsor Castle. It is printed in black and white.

Let's Look at Christ As Both God—and Man!

The true Christian believes, of course, that Jesus was at one and the same time true man and the Son of God.

He holds this all-important conviction on the strength of proofs from the life of Our Lord...on the teachings of the Church from the time of the Apostles...on the powerful testimony of Holy Scripture. He is sure because God promised that the Word would be made flesh...and the Word was made flesh.

But it is also true that many sincere Christians do not understand how important Christ's human nature was to His divine nature. Catholic teaching emphasizes this relationship, and we believe that a better understanding of it will enrich the spiritual life of every follower of Jesus Christ.

It was through His human nature that Our Lord entered the world of men and became not only our Savior, but our brother. It was the man Jesus who suffered and died for our sins... the human Jesus through Whom the graces of the Sacraments have been brought to us... the flesh-and-blood Jesus Who was the instrument of our salvation and is the one Mediator between God the Father and the family of man.

Today...as in the time of Our Lord Himself...some people revere Jesus as a holy man. They regard Him as a prophet, an evangelist, a teacher—a martyr. But they insist that he was merely a human being...a son of Adam...a man of the same ancestry as all other men.

Catholics, and other Christians, too, agree that the ancestry of Our Lord was indeed of human nature as is our own. But we also believe that all that Jesus did as a man was motivated by the fact that He alone, of all the race of men, was the true Son of God—a divine Person—the instrument through which God brought understanding to sinful man.

From its beginning to its end, the New Testament deals not only with the divine but the human nature of Jesus Christ. These two natures must be understood in their proper relationship to one another, and to God's purpose and plan for the redemption of men.

Tiger Loss Gives Basketball Crown To Columbia

Kewpies Defeat S-C 71-62 While Jays Upset Hannibal

A season-long sizzling Central Missouri Conference basketball race was settled at Sedalia and Jefferson City Friday night with a third party, the Hickman Kewpies of Columbia, emerging to reign over the conference for the year. The Kewpies got the championship with a 71-62 victory over the Smith-Cotton Tigers at Sedalia for an 8-2 record.

Meanwhile, down at Jefferson City, the lowly Jays pulled the upset of the year by nosing out Hannibal's powerful Pirates, 69-67, in overtime. The defeat left Hannibal with a 7-3 conference mark and a 19-5 season record. The Jays are 2-7 in the conference and 8-12 overall.

Smith-Cotton thus ended the regular season with a 5-5 conference record and 16-7 season mark which the Tigers will take into the Raytown Class L Regional Tournament Tuesday night. The Bengals will meet Center at 7 o'clock. The Sedalians are seeded No. 2 behind Raytown.

Hickman wrapped up Friday night's game in the first quarter. Art Fewell, Fearheller and George Comfort led a 31-point onslaught that found the Tigers trailing by 18 at the end of the period. Fewell tossed in ten, Fearheller canned eight, and Comfort scored six in the fatal first.

Fewell wound up Columbia's leading scorer with 19 points, Richardson had 14, and Fearheller accounted for 13. However, Sedalia's Mike Wiseman took game honors with 24 points. Tim Morgan and Charlie Case had 17 and ten, respectively. Sedalia outplayed the Kewpies in the second and third quarters. The Tigers chopped three points off Hickman's lead in the second period, mainly due to the shooting of Case and Morgan, to trail at halftime, 43-28.

Wiseman, who went into the second half with only five points, found the range in the third quarter and he and Morgan led the Tigers on a spurt that cut seven more points off Hickman's lead, 57-49. Wiseman tossed in eight and Morgan scored seven in the period.

Wiseman continued his hot scoring pace in the fourth quarter, scoring 11 points on five field goals and a free throw in an effort to pull the Bengals from behind. But his only scoring help was from Alvin Gordon who scored one field goal.

The Tigers could make no further dent in the Kewpies' lead, however, as Fearheller, Cuttle, Richardson and Fewell kept the new conference kingspin off front by hitting from all angles.

Smith-Cotton's B squad was a bit more successful, scoring a 46-38 triumph over the Hickman B team in a preliminary contest. However, the Tigers had to come from behind in the fourth quarter to do it. Trailing 32-30, Nagel, Short and Ferguson led a 16-point surge that provided the locals with the victory margin.

McCown was Sedalia's big gun with 14 points, while Nagel finished with ten. Shepard led Columbia with 16.

Gene Fullmer Favored Over Sugar Ray

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — The odds are 2-to-1 or thereabouts that one of this week's biggest losers in a town full of same will be Ray Robinson.

For, if the money changers reckon correctly when they say Gene Fullmer will retain his NBA middleweight title Saturday night, this might easily be the last championship fight in Robinson's long and distinguished career.

The 40-year-old challenger will try to win the middleweight title for the sixth time when he meets the 29-year-old champion before a national television audience (ABC) and about 8,000 paying customers at Convention Center. The hour is 7 p.m., Pacific Standard Time.

Robinson's great skills have diminished substantially since the days when he was called the best in his profession, pound for pound. But the odds do not seem to give him much credit for fighting Fullmer to a draw only last December in Los Angeles.

On the other hand, that fight must have been a more punishing exercise for Robinson, whose aging body took a savage flogging all night, than for the much younger Fullmer, who easily survived Robinson's brilliant but infrequent flurries.

The champion, whose atrocious style is offset by his ferocious strength and durability, will be permitted this time to indulge his bullish manners all the way. Ordinarily, Manager Marv Jensen shouts instructions by the numbers from the corner. Saturday night he'll keep quiet.

"Last time," Gene said, "I felt I would be fighting a little harder. But Marv wanted me to be more cautious. This time I felt I would like to go as hard as I dared."

"I thought Gene was comfortably ahead last time," Jensen said. "The way it came out made me feel I should give him a chance to go on his own once. If he had lost because I held him back, I could never have forgiven myself."

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

CONGRATULATIONS to the Hubbard High School Tigers for their Regional victories the past week. Although they had to meet another Pettis County team—Hughesville—the victory is one the Hubbard quintet is enjoying. The real test comes at 7 p.m. Monday at Blue Springs.

The Tigers have continuously contended they would win the Regionals. They have talked of a second meeting with a team which defeated them 73-46 the first part of the month. Now they get their chance—yes it is the undefeated Malta Bend quintet.

Coach Harry Browder reporting on the coming contest says his boys are confident they can overcome Malta Bend in a second meeting. If it is confidence that will win then Hubbard will make another step toward the State Championship to be played at Columbia—and it will be a BIG ONE.

Hubbard completed their regular season with 16 wins against two losses, one to Warsaw 63-87 and the other to Malta Bend. They have another victory on the record that of the Alumni game and the games they won in the Regionals.

A win Monday night will send them back to Blue Springs for a semi-final game to be played on Wednesday night, after which the winner travels to Columbia.

OUR best wishes go to the Smith-Cotton Tigers for this week's play. They open in the Class "L" regional tournament Tuesday night at Raytown meeting Center of Kansas City at 7 p.m.

Discussion with others interested in this regional is to the effect the Tigers are more-or-less favored to win. The Tigers have played a tougher schedule through the year and have shown more in their season play than most of the teams entered in this regional.

It has been pointed out that possibly Raytown has the largest team in height and if they advance out in the upper portion of the bracket they will, if the Tigers win their games, meet in the semi-finals.

The rivalry between these two schools in football in seasons gone by, means there will be a real "court" scrap at the Raytown high school come next weekend.

BASKETBALL season is just about over—but not so for the Wheel Chair Basketball team of Kansas City. The team is desiring to play an exhibition game here in Sedalia and are looking for some organization to sponsor it.

Johnnie Throckmorton, formerly of Sedalia, is a member of the squad and has written to this column for help. Throckmorton who formerly worked for Charlie Hofheins is pushing the team and feels Sedalia should be a city to see it play.

Anyone interested is requested to contact Fran Cotitta in Kansas City at Ma 1-1434. Or contact can be made with Johnnie at 5412 East 6th, Kansas City 27, or Hu 3-1561.

Wheel Chair teams have provided some interesting basketball throughout the country and the fact some of the players are well known here should be an incentive for a local organization to sponsor a game. The players are all men who are handicapped and must use wheel chairs to get around.

Lincoln, Neb. — Oklahoma's J. D. Martin set a Nebraska stadium pole vault record Saturday in leading the Sooners to an easy 75-47 Big Eight indoor dual track win over Nebraska.

Martin cleared the bar at 15 feet, 1 1/2 inches to better his own meet mark of 15 feet, 3/4 inch set last year. The stadium record of 15-1 was set by Oklahoma State's George Davies earlier this season.

Martin also topped the 60 yard high hurdles.

Flamingo Stakes To Carry Back

MIAMI, Fla. — Carry Back Saturday became the second Florida-bred colt to win the Flamingo Stakes and he took a giant step toward becoming a Kentucky Derby favorite.

Carry Back, bred, owned and trained by Jack A. Price of Miami, caught Fred W. Hoopers Crozier 70 yards from the finish line and won by a head in a photo.

William C. Partee's Your Bill finished third and Jacob Sher's Sherluck finish fourth in the seven-horse field of three-year-olds.

Immediately after the finish, Heliodoro Gustines claimed out against Crozier who he said crossed over on his mount, Your Bill, one eighth of a mile from the finish.

Crozier was ridden by Chris Rogers.

Carry Back, ridden by John Sellers, was free of inquiry.

Carry Back ran the mile and an eighth in 1:50 3-5.

His fractional times were :22 2-5, :46 3-5, 1:11 3-5 and 1:37 2-5.

Carry Back was 3-5 favorite in duplicating the feat of Needles, a Florida-bred who won the 1956 Flamingo and went on to take the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes among others.

After examining the photo, the stewards decided to let Crozier remain second and Your Bill third.

Carry Back returned $3.30, $2.30, $2.30. Crozier paid $2.80 to place and $3.00 to show. Your Bill paid $5.60.

Mrs. Mary Keims Hero's In ran fifth, followed by Ada L. Rice's Try Cash and Louis Chesler's Kings Song.

Gustines got Your Bill out of the gate first and he led until they reached the far turn. Crozier was in close pursuit of the leader. For a time they were lapped on each other.

Friday night at the Whiteman AFB gymnasium.

Offutt took it on the chin from Forbes AFB, Kansas, in the first game which would have given Offutt the title. Forbes, paced by the hot shooting of Brown with 22 points, squeezed out a 70-68 win to force a playoff between the two. Smith led the Offutt scoring column with 24 points.

Offutt, however, came through in another squeaker in the playoff contest and nailed down tourney honors, 83-80.

Smith hit 26 points for the winners in the championship game while Brown pitched in 27 to pace the losers.

27 Others Have Pledged Support

15 Soap Box Derby Sponsors Have Turned In Their Checks

Fifteen sponsors in the Sedalia Soap Box Derby have turned in their checks and 27 other firms and civic organizations have pledged financial support for the Junior Chamber of Commerce program, according to Rick Fullerton, Jaycee president.

This brings the Jaycees within eight sponsors of their goal of 50 by April first which will insure sanction by national sponsors of the event—Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp., Fullerton said.

Local derby officials hope that news of the growing success, and evidence that the July 23 race in Sedalia is imminent, will spur potential sponsors to come forth with their sponsorship funds. Some persons have told officials they would give support when the program "shaped up" a little more and when it appeared the program was headed for success.

An entry solicitation committee, headed by Ed Snively, is hard at work acquiring other sponsors, according to William D. Hill, director of the program. About 15 men have volunteered to work on this committee to contact local potential sponsors.

In the meantime, Hill said, firms, organizations or individuals interested in being among the first to get their checks in may contact him at TA 6-1000 or mail their check to him in care of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Hill said some potential sponsors are concerned over getting the right boy to sponsor and are wondering whether or not there is enough interest among eligible boys. To this question he answers: "We haven't scratched the surface in signing up interested boys. We have held one clinic-meeting and will have others as soon as we get the sponsorship business out of the way."

"In all we have 44 boys on our roster seeking sponsors and once we get a sufficient number of sponsors to start assigning sponsorships we'll also get more boys in the act. First things first, and sponsorships have been given number one priority," he said.

Hill reiterated that sponsors may select their boy or the Jaycees will select one of them. He pointed out that boys selected by the Jaycees will meet a Jaycee board to determine if the boy is sufficiently interested in the program to warrant turning the sponsor's money over to him. Boys will also be advised that the winner at Akron will lose his racer should he win the All-American event and bring home part of the $15,000 in prizes.

This board has not been set up yet, Hill said, but will be set up and boys who have registered with the Jaycees will be advised when they are scheduled to meet with the Jaycees. He indicated that the club did not want to call a board together until more sponsors checks are turned in.

This board has not been set up yet, Hill said, but will be set up and boys who have registered with the Jaycees will be advised when they are scheduled to meet with the Jaycees.

But now the Tiger men will get their wish—to meet Malta Bend—in a contest which means much to both teams. A chance to move on up to the semi-finals in the State, and a chance to go to the University of Missouri for the Class "S" championship playoffs.

Ronald Johnson and Enos Johnson, brothers, teamed together to collect the lions share of the Hubbard scoring. Ronald fired in 27 points while brother Enos was making 21. Stepphen was carrying the load for Hughesville scoring 20 of the teams 40 points.

The Sedalians moved out front in the opening stanza 16 to 13, picked up two extra points of 17 to 15 in the second for an intermission lead of 33 to 28. In the third period Hubbard scored 11 to 7 and in the fourth 16 to 14. Hubbard 16 17 11 16-60 Hughesville 13 15 7 14-49

Scoring—Hubbard: Cole 5, R. Johnson 27, G. Whitney 7 and E. Johnson 21. Hughesville: Thompson 4, Schroeder 2, Stepphen 20, Martin 11, and Hieronymus 12.

Sweet Springs Keg League Results

The results of Tuesday night's playoff in the Sweet Springs Bowling League, according to Harold Berry, secretary, are as follows: Dooleys took three from the Hall Motor Co.; Pin Tippers won four from the Stinkers; Whittits and Roberts split even; and High Hopes took four from Turner Motor Co.

Bob Cartwright had high game for the men with a 216, and Clark Evans had the high 30 with 533. The high 10 for the women and high 30 was Wanda Williams with 198 and 499.

Homers Plentiful In Intrasquad Tilt

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Don Larsen, Haywood Sullivan and Rookie Dick Howser hit home runs Saturday as the Kansas City Athletics played an informal intrasquad game. Pitchers and catcher were sprinkled throughout the lineup.

The workout, which lasted nearly 4 hours, was the longest thus far. Afterward, Manager Joe Gordon told his squad they can have Sunday off.

Snively, sponsor solicitation; Joe Van Horn, race day concessions; and Chuck Findley, activities program printing.

Mizzou Bows To K-State

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—The 8th-ranked Kansas State Wildcats surged to the front in the Big Eight conference basketball race Saturday night by whipping Missouri 91-71 as Cedric Price hit 23 points for the winners.

K-State never was behind in marking its second victory in a row over Missouri, giving coach Tex Winter a present on his 39th birthday.

The Wildcats built a 42-31 half-time lead. The closest Missouri came in the second half was 64-53.

Charlie Henke of Missouri, entering the game as the Big Eight's leading scorer with an average of 24.4, hit 32 points.

Missouri's other gunner, Joe Scott, averaging 16 points, made only two tonight before he was benched after 10 minutes.

Price, besides his hot shooting, led in rebounding with 22 grabs. K-State out-rebounded Missouri 74 to 51.

Kansas State's Big Eight record now is 9-2, and the season mark is 18-4. Missouri stands 4-6 and 6-14.

K-State was tied with Kansas until the Jayhawks lost to Nebraska Saturday night.

Four Missouri players fouled out and two others carried four fouls. Both teams sank 38 per cent of their field shots—Kansas State making 32 of 84, and Missouri 27 of 71.

Belgium Breaks Off Diplomatic Ties With UAR

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Belgium broke off diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic Saturday because of mob attacks on the Belgian Embassy in Cairo two weeks ago.

Jean van den Bossche, Foreign Ministry secretary-general, said the U.A.R. had rejected all Belgian protests against the attacks by rioters seeking vengeance for the slaying of Congolese ex-premier Patrice Lumumba.

Van den Bossche said the U.A.R. on Feb. 14, two days after the first attack on the embassy, gave Belgium assurance that the building would be protected. But the next day a huge mob battered its way into the embassy, threw files and papers into the street and set the building on fire.

A Belgian Foreign Ministry spokesman said that on that day "the police forces controlling the streets leading to the embassy and protecting the embassy were withdrawn, while TV trucks and reporters took position in front of the embassy."

"Firemen and police appeared on the spot only more than four hours after the start of the demonstration," the spokesman added.

Organizations Join To Defeat Grain Bill

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Organizations representing virtually all growers and marketers of grain in Texas joined Saturday in a bid to defeat President Kennedy's proposed feed grains bill.

They charged it would centralize all marketing of grain in the hands of the Commodity Credit Corporation, bring a lower total cash return to grain producers, leave grain prices subject to caprice of bureaucrats rather than to economic factors, and disrupt feed producers and users.

The Colorado River, 1,450 miles long, is one of the greatest waterways in the United States.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Valery Brumel of Russia made it two-for-two in his battle with John Thomas for the world high jump title Saturday night by winning the National AAU championship.

Brumel defeated Thomas with a leap of 7 feet, 2 inches. Thomas went out after missing three times at 7-1.

Mules Whip Bears 75-70 In Final Tilt

The Central Missouri State Mules closed out the 1960-61 basketball campaign Saturday night with a 75-70 MIAA decision over the Springfield Bears at Warrensburg. The victory gave the Mules a 5-5 conference record and 13-7 overall mark, making their best season in several years. Springfield is 5-5 and 10-13.

The brilliant play of Russ Childress sparked the Mules in a come-from-behind battle for their third win this year over Springfield. Childress, the only senior on the squad, led both teams in scoring with 27 points and was superb on the floor. Coach Earl Keith said it was the best overall game the 6-foot-2 guard from Lee's Summit has played in his college career.

Trailing 39-28 at the half, the Mules put on a scorching scoring show to pull within three points three minutes after intermission. CMS went on to tie it at 49-49 and the lead switched for several minutes before the Mules took a 6-point lead with five and a half minutes to go. CMS never surrendered the lead after that.

The Bears appeared bent on turning the game into a rout and in their favor in the opening stages.

Springfield took an early 11-5 lead, but the Mules tied it 22-22 all with 7:40 left in the first half. The Mules went cold again and the Bears romped to a 12-point lead, their biggest of the night. CMS scored only one field goal in the last eight minutes of the half.

Bud Vallino, the Mules' fine 6-4 freshman from Edwardsville, Ill., contributed 17 points to the winning effort, which is his season average.

Jerry Kirksey and Gene Day were Springfield's big guns with 22 and 18 points, respectively. CMS scored 28 47-75 Springfield—28 31-70 CMS—Childress 27, Bob Walters 9, Vallino 17, Bob Dennis 5, Tony Marshall 4, Tom Hewitt 4, Gordon McFarland 9; Springfield—Day 18, Jerry Hall 2, Kirksey 22, Jerry McCarter 2, Jerry Stockard 11, Carl Wilks 9, Charles Marshall 2, Jim White 4.

Hornung's Scoring Record Is Confirmed

NEW YORK (AP)—Versatile Paul Hornung's record-breaking scoring performance in 1960 was confirmed Saturday with the release of the final National Football League statistics.

In winning his second straight scoring championship, the backfield star of Green Bay's Western Conference titleholders piled up 176 points, eclipsing the mark of 138 set by Don Hutson, great Green Bay end, in 1942. Hornung scored 13 touchdowns running and two on passes, and kicked 41 extra points without a miss and 15 of 28 field goal attempts.

The Cleveland Browns won the team scoring title, compiling 362 points. Green Bay was next with 332.

Boston Smashes His Own Indoor Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Fabulous Ralph Boston of Tennessee State smashed his own indoor broad jump record Saturday night by soaring 26 feet, 6 1/4 inches in the National AAU Championships in Madison Square Garden.

Boston's leap came with all the drama he could muster. Until then, Igor Ter-Ovanesyan of Russia was leading with a leap of 26 feet even.

The slim Olympic champion and holder of every world record sped down the runway while the crowd sat hushed. Up he went and when he landed a mighty roar went up. Without even measuring, it seemed everyone in Madison Square Garden knew he had beaten Ter-Ovanesyan.

Cincinnati's Bob Wiesenbahn and Paul Hogue led scoring with 15 points apiece. Ardie Dixon had 14 for North Texas.

Huge Happy Humphrey Here Tuesday

Happy Humphrey doesn't mind being made fun of—in fact, he readily admits that he's about the world's worst wrestler. But there's one distinction he'll hold when the pros go through their paces at Convention Hall Tuesday night—he'll be the biggest man in the ring.

Happy will have a two-fold task. He'll try to throw the No. 1 wrestling twosome in this section, the Masked Medics, all in one shot. Nobody's been able to beat them as a team yet, but then they've never had to face any one man the size of Humphrey, or any two for that matter.

That's a special feature of a program that promises some wild, rugged action in the main event when two hard-hitting teams come together. Sonny Myers, the ever-popular and stylish Missouri mat warrior, will side with Ray Gordon against Stan Stasiak, as mean a pair of matmen to come down the pike in some time.

Myers and Gordon, both fast and superbly conditioned, will count heavily upon their superior scientific measures to get them past the raw power of Stasiak and the rugged Henning. It should be a showdown of skill and roughing tactics, with Myers and Gordon expecting to get the nod on the basis of their smoother efforts.

There'll be a female flavor to the action as well. Two veteran girl battlers—Penny Banner and Judy Glover—will match gouging, biting, scratching and straight wrestling in an effort to see who can render the other the most helpless.

It all adds up to an action-packed thriller. Starting time is 8:15.

Ohio Man Takes Lead In Petersen Bowling Classic

CHICAGO (AP)—Dale Whisler of Dayton, Ohio, 44-year-old machinist and grandfather, Saturday rolled into the lead of the $327,808 Petersen Bowling classic with a 1,689 series.

The marathon meet, carrying a top prize of $27,500, started Dec. 10 and by the time it ends June 25, a total of 12,768 bowlers will have taken a crack at the purses. Whisler, who has been bowling 24 years and is competing in his 10th classic, replaced Frank Sopirato, Warrensville, Ohio, in top spot. Sopirato had held the lead for several weeks with 1,657.

Whisler fired games of 192, 178, 242, 278, 267, 184, 187 and 161.

The leaders:

Dale Whisler, Dayton, Ohio, 1,689.
Frank Sopirato, Warrensville, Ohio, 1,657.
Billy Welu, St. Louis, 1,640.
Larry McClung, Farmington, Mich., 1,646.
Bob Strampe, Detroit, 1,644.
Fred Mroczka, Jackson, Mich., 1,633.
William Neiger, St. Louis, 1,630.
Walter Gurinovich, Chicago, 1,626.
Bobby Vien, St. Louis, 1,622.
Richard Kroh, Chicago, 1,613.
Albert Noles, Three Rivers, Mich., 1,612.
Jerome Torzewski, South Bend, Ind., 1,612.

Cincinnati Wins 16th Straight; Assured Tie

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Cincinnati won its 16th straight game and a guaranteed tie for the Missouri Valley Conference title by whipping North Texas State 73-43 here Saturday afternoon.

The Bearcats thus ended their Valley slate with a 10-2 record. Bradley, also with 2 losses, is the other Valley crown contender.

The Eagles were tied with Cincinnati after eight minutes but then collapsed before an 18-point Bearcat scoring burst. The visitors played three men taller than 6-foot-8 and dominated the board. They grabbed 63 rebounds to 37 for the North Texans and outshot them from the field 40 per cent to 28 per cent.

Cincinnati's Bob Wiesenbahn and Paul Hogue led scoring with 15 points apiece. Ardie Dixon had 14 for North Texas.

Tigers Take Third Place

Salisbury Wins At Tipton; Versailles Topples Slater

The Salisbury Panthers defeated the first seeded Eugene Eagles 69-62 in the Tipton Class S Regional Tournament for the championship Saturday night, while Versailles whipped Slater 62-56 for third place.

The Salisbury-Eugene game saw close action all the way, with both teams making a desperate last effort in the fourth period—the Panthers coming out on top. Eugene's attack was lead by the sharp shooting of Gretlin with 22 points and Morrow with 26. Preston and Mason scored 20 points each for Salisbury's winning effort.

In the game for third place, Versailles was tied with Slater at the end of the first period, 15-15, but ran away with it in the second stanza, 22-10 for a half-time lead of 37-25. Things looked less bright in the third quarter, but began to take a better swing in the final period.

High for Versailles were Tankersly with 21 points, McMillan with 14 and Finley with 12. For Slater—it was Higgins with 20 points and Kirby with 19.

The results of Saturday's games puts Slater in fourth place and Eugene in second. Salisbury's Eagles were seeded second in the tournament.

Salisbury gained its shot at the finals through a 70-59 defeat of Slater Friday night.

The game was fairly tight through the first three periods with Salisbury holding only a two-point lead at halftime. In the final period of the game, Salisbury outscored Slater 22-15 to provide a comfortable winning margin.

Slater's Kirby took the high point honors with 22. Leading the Salisbury offense was Mason with 19 closely trailed by White with 18.

Prove It Does It In $145,000 Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Prove It, once an unsung member of the Rex Ellsworth Stable, stepped another giant stride toward fame Saturday with a remarkably easy victory in the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Bet down to odds of 2-5 by a crowd estimated at 52,500, the 4-year-old California comet rolled in to take the $100,000 jackpot and score his ninth win in 10 trips to the post.

Lengths behind was the Jacnot Stable's 4-year-old Oink, with the Kerr Stable's Grey Eagle third.

It was no contest when jockey Willie Shoemaker opened the trot on Prove It as they neared the turn for home. The winning bay won eased up by 2 1/4 lengths.

The time for the mile and one-quarter golden gallop was 2 minutes flat. The track record is 1:59 4-5, set in this same spectacle by Round Table in 1958.

Prove It paid 40 cents on the dollar—$2.80 to win, $2.60 to place and $2.20 to show.

Oink, ridden by Milo Valenzuela, returned $7.20 and $3.60 to place and Grey Eagle, with Larry Gilligan aboard, $2.60 to show.

Windsor Wins Title In Regional Tourney

The Windsor Greyhounds whipped Higginsville, 58-43, Saturday night to win the Harrisonville Class M Regional Basketball Tournament and run their season record to 22-1. Belton defeated St. Paul's of Concordia for third place.

Monday night the Greyhounds will meet Salisbury in the District Tournament at Blue Springs at 8:30. Salisbury defeated Eugene in the Tipton Regional Saturday night.

The lead switched hands several times in the first quarter before the Greyhounds emerged with an 8-7 lead. They never trailed after that, but Higginsville stuck close behind.

Leading 21-16 going into the third period, Windsor opened a ten point margin at 38-28 and continued to open up until the Greyhounds hit their biggest lead in the final score of 58-43.

Keith Craig led the Windsor attack with 18 points. Lewis topped Higginsville with 12.

Windsor gained its berth against Higginsville on the strength of close 55-51 victory over St. Paul's Academy of Concordia Friday night.

It looked in the first quarter as if Windsor would be able to breeze through picking up a comfortable 16-9 lead. St. Paul's made a fight out of it and outscored Windsor in the next two quarters to cut the margin down to 38-42 going into the final period.

In the fourth quarter, each team scored 13 points as Windsor was able to hand on to the four point edge for the victory.

Karsten of St. Paul's gained high point honors with 23 tallies in the losing cause. Leading the scoring column for Windsor was Ward with 21.

Windsor 16 11 15 13—58
St. Paul's 9 13 16 13—51
Windsor: Ward, 21; Craig, 14; Lindsey, 9; Smith, 8; Shipp, 3. St. Paul's: Karsten, 23; Fuhrmann, 10; Soeldner, 8; Wolbrecht, 6; Niernann, 4.

Higginsville 7 9 12 15—43
Windsor: Keith Craig 18, Pete Smith 12, Bob Lindsey 8, Jerry Kibler 6, Tim Ward 5, Durbin Shipp 5, Carl Fowler 4, Higginsville: Wiley 7, Kratz 1, Schwarzer 8, Wood 9, Hancock 6, Lewis 12.

S-C Speech Club Goes To Student Congress

The Smith-Cotton Speech Club, under the direction of Harold McAnich, attended the student congress at Jefferson City Friday and Saturday and Jeff Locket, Smith-Cotton senior, was elected outstanding representative by his fellow members.

The student congress was held in the Legislative Chambers of the state Capitol.

Locket was also elected as representative to the national student congress which will be held in Pittsburgh, Penn., June 20. This is regarded as one of the highest honors which can be paid to a member of the student congress.

Smith-Cotton hopes to enter the state debate tournament at Rolla in April, and, should they win there, go to the national.

Cole Camper Marks His 100th Birthday Anniversary Friday

By Larry Embry

Reading is not an unusual hobby, but for a man 100 years old, who reads without glasses, it's a remarkable pastime.

And that's how W. H. Trolinger, Route 2, Lincoln, spends his spare moments. Trolinger marked his 100th birthday anniversary Friday at his home about 16 miles southeast of Cole Camp.

His children and grandchildren gather today at nearby Lakeview Heights where an open house is being held at a restaurant there.

The old gentleman makes his home with a daughter, Mrs. Edna Newman, and a grandson and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Newman.

Born Feb. 25, 1861, he was the son of a physician, Dr. John P. Trolinger. "My father cured the first case of diphtheria ever cured in the state of Missouri," he said.

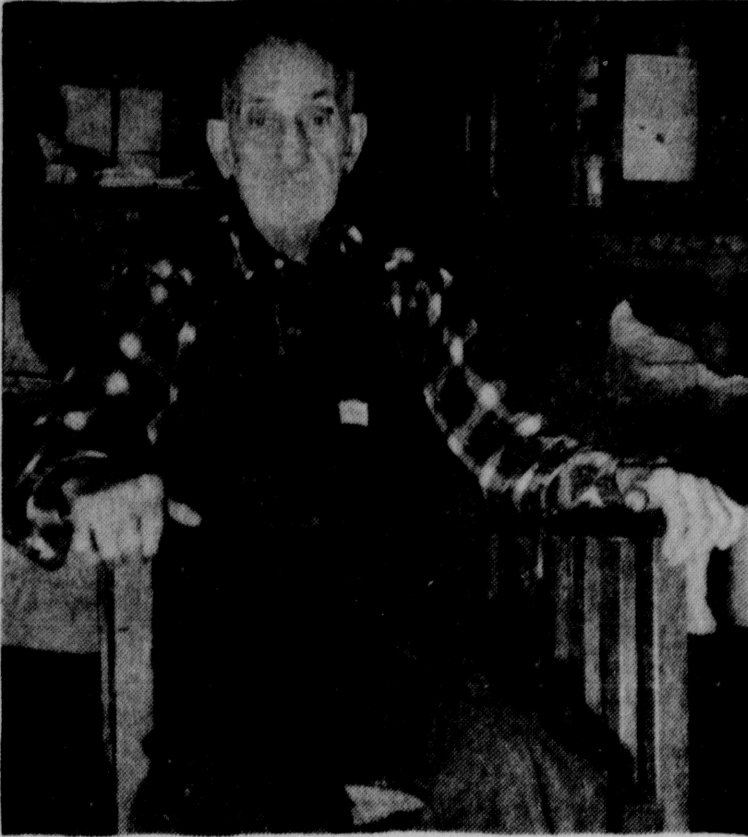

Trolinger's mind has remained remarkably alert and as he talked he would hurriedly add and subtract dates to establish the time of certain events.

He recalls several things that occurred during the Civil War. He told of a man, accused of being a spy, who was shot and fell dead nearly at his feet. Just a youngster then, Trolinger said he was about scared to death.

Trolinger related his father was wounded nine times during the war and escaped with his life, probably because he was a doctor. "Dad treated both Union and Confederate soldiers," he said.

"My wife's father rode with the Quantrill raiders during the war," he said.

A native and lifelong resident of Benton and Henry Counties, he was graduated from the eighth grade at Windsor and attended high school there. Trolinger planned to follow in his father's footsteps as a doctor and started college at old Warrensburg Normal, discontinuing his studies before he was graduated.

Trolinger said when he was attending old State Normal at Warrensburg there was nothing but prairie between the campus and the railroad depot. The town has since built up in that area.

Farming and "horse swapping" were his main livelihoods and he said he paid for his farm trading horses.

He started in the horse trading business early, making his first deal when he was 12. "And I got the best end of the bargain," Trolinger chuckled. "I swapped a balky mule for a good one."

He complains he can't get out much any more due to poor circulation in his legs, but according to his grandson he worked some until nine years ago. "We had to hide the axe from him last summer to keep him from using it," the grandson said.

Trolinger is hard of hearing, but his age cannot even be blamed for that. When younger, a dynamite charge exploded too near him, injured his eardrums and impaired his hearing. He has lost all his teeth and wears none. He has never been in a hospital.

A staunch Democrat, Trolinger readily talks politics and is a strong Kennedy backer.

Trolinger said he was instrumental in getting the first Democrat elected to a Benton County office following the Civil War. Benton County, long a Republican stronghold, named a Democrat as recorder of deeds in 1898. "It cost me $100 to get that man in office," Trolinger said.

Residents of the area say he is the best person they know of to recall things that occurred over 50 years ago. Among his favorite tales is the story of the shooting of the famed hound, Old Drum, and the ensuing court battle at Warrensburg.

He says he has never been drunk in his life, but admitted he had taken a few drinks.

Longevity evidently is a characteristic of the Trolinger clan. He has two brothers, Sam, Missoula, Mont., and Arch, of the state of Oklahoma, both of whom are in their 80's.

His wife, Lula, died Oct. 26, 1909, when the youngest of the couple's eight children was only 3. He never remarried.

Trolinger has six children still living, 30 grandchildren, 48 great-grandchildren and 14 great-great-grandchildren.

The children are: John Trolinger, Calhoun, Mo.; Will Trolinger, Sante Fe Springs, Calif.; Omer Trolinger, Rich Hill, Mo.; Gladys Summers, Kansas City; Grace Parsons, Kansas City; and Mrs. Edna Newman, of the home.

New Ideas At Pentagon

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — New key men brought into the Pentagon to figure what U.S. defense should be are already stirring up a furor.

No final decisions have been made — keep that in mind as you read this: First recommendations, due February 28, will be only first steps. But watch 1962 and 1963!

This is a summation of the tentative thinking of the new men under Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

The United States should not plan to wait for the Russians to strike first. This does not mean preventive war. The U. S. might well strike first if "proof" came in that a Russian all-out strike was positively coming. Absorbing the first Russian blow and waiting to strike back with a seriously crippled force doesn't make sense.

There are ways of telling days in advance, when Russia is getting ready to strike. Money must be spent to put the system into effect. There must be heavy priority on satellites to pick up hourly information inside the Soviet.

The U. S. is not behind the Soviet in ability to deliver nuclear destruction in total war. Nor is the U. S. likely to lag in the future. Assuming this balance of nuclear power, Khrushchev will turn more to chancing limited wars. Therefore, the U. S. must now spend more dollars in preparing for limited war. Especially the U. S. must step up its ability to fight "little wars" without atomic weapons.

The Defense Department is now forced to back State Department policies which it doesn't have the weapons to back. So Khrushchev regards these U. S. diplomatic actions as bluff.

There must be closer correlation between Defense plans and State Department policies. If the State Department is going to back certain policies, the Defense Department must have the weapons in time to back those policies.

The U. S. must take positive steps to convince the Russians that they cannot destroy the United States in a sneak attack. Otherwise Khrushchev will be convinced he'll back down in a real showdown. He won't be convinced we would risk total war and possible disaster to keep a commitment to an European, African or Southeast Asiatic country.

Therefore it is reasoned that the U. S. must spend heavily on a complete civil defense program. This could cost billions.

For the same reason the U. S. must consider seriously putting the Strategic Air Force's bombers in underground concrete shelters so they could survive a first blow. Strategic missiles without hardened bases also are of little use.

More unification within the Defense Department is necessary in order to get quick action on decisions and to prevent the lag that enables the Russians to conceive of a new weapon or missile and sometimes put it into inventory at twice the U.S. speed. This unification is possible through a strong use of the powers which the defense secretary already has. As yet undecided is whether McNamara needs more powers from Congress to accomplish what should be done.

The big gains in defense and in industry during the past decade have been primarily because of large expenditures for research and development. Dollar for dollar the funds put into research have netted more in increased defense than the money spent in any other way. Therefore, the Pentagon needs to put considerably more money into basic research.

All of this — bear in mind — is the tentative thinking of the new team at the Department of Defense.

A locomotive remotely controlled from a high tower will push the cards up a raised section of track called a "hump." Each car will be weighed, inspected, oiled, recorded and uncoupled automatically before it reaches the hump's crest.

From there, the cars will coast downhill to "classification" tracks fanning out below like branches from the trunk of a tree. A tape containing information on each car will be fed into an electronic brain, which in turn will activate devices to guide the car onto its proper track. Its speed will be controlled by automatic "retarders." Radar eyes will check its progress. Switches will be set ahead of the car automatically.

"Then, when enough cars for a single destination are assembled, a remote-controlled locomotive will collect them — and a new train will be born." In some cases this will mean one man will do the work of a hundred.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE: New men and new ideas.

Impressions of Ingrid

By DICK KLEINER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — (NEA) — Impressions of Ingrid Bergman. Tall, rosy-cheeked, a ready smile. Yet, somehow, an air of sadness.

It is always there, that bitter-sweet quality. You talk to her about many things, far removed from the area which gave her such unfavorable publicity. But somehow she alludes to her past frequently.

We were talking about Sweden's great director, Ingmar Bergman. The similarity of names has long amused her, she says. "I always get a start when I pick up a paper and see that name. I think, what have I done now. And I am so relieved when I find that this time it is he, not I."

Or her present life. She lives in Paris with her producer husband Lars Schmidt but travels a great deal. She says she has always liked to travel. "That's why I had to get out of Hollywood and see the world. It was stifling me."

And her children. She has a young daughter she thinks might make an actress. "She is always acting. Even when there are others in the room, she is in a corner, acting a play out to herself. She reminds me of how I was as a child. Now she is studying the piano, so she makes up operas to act out. I would like it if she became an actress. I will not encourage her, though, because I know how difficult a life it is to be an actress."

Miss Bergman works very little these days. She'll be on television on March 20, doing a CBS special, "Twenty-Four Hours in a Woman's Life." And there is a movie coming out in the spring. "Before these," she says, "I didn't work for two years, except for that 'The Turn of the Screw' on TV. And I think now I will not work again for a year."

She says that nowadays she likes to take it easier. She has four children to raise. And, with her eldest daughter married, she faces the possibility of being a grandmother. This prospect seems to please her, although she admits "it will be quite a milestone in my life."

There is a real language problem at the Schmidt house. They both speak Swedish, of course. But the children don't. "So I speak to them in Italian, and my husband speaks to them in French. We speak to each other in Swedish."

Swedish, she says, is her main language these days. In her Hollywood years, she avoided Swedish so she could improve her English. "Besides, I had no Swedish friends then, except Signe Hasso. And we always spoke English to each other. I think I speak Swedish better now than I did 10 years ago."

Looking back on her artistic career, Miss Bergman says there were three dreams she had. She wanted to play in a movie based on Sigrid Undset's "Kristin Lavransdatter." "I promised her, before she died, that I would do it. But it is impossible — so big, like 'War and Peace'." Then she dreamed of playing "Anna Karenina." "But I saw Garbo in both the silent and sound versions she made, and who could follow her?" And she wanted to play Joan of Arc. "I did that, so I think one out of three dreams isn't so bad."

Eventually, she would like, perhaps, to come and do another Broadway play. "But not now. It would take too long away from the children. Maybe in 10 years, when they are grown, when the girl is 18, I can come to Broadway. Then I will be just right for a grandmother part."

Tennessee's Windiest City

By JERRY BENNETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TULLAHOMA, Tenn. — (NEA) — Residents bragging about Tullahoma's 15,000 miles per hour winds aren't just shooting the breeze. Gales more than 20 times the speed of sound are actually common in a secluded area three miles out of town.

For Tullahoma, located between Nashville and Chattanooga, is the site of the Air Force's Arnold Engineering Development Center which houses 12 of the largest, most powerful wind tunnels in the world. Within 16 miles of cavernous tubing, vital pre-flight tests on U.S. missiles and supersonic aircraft are carried out.

In addition to duplicating supersonic wind conditions, the tunnels are able to simulate altitudes as high as 300,000 feet. Thus, engineers can find out how every component of a missile or plane will withstand the severe stresses of space flight before the vehicle leaves the ground.

Some of the tunnels are used only for testing scaled-down models. Others are large enough to hold full size missiles or planes. Still others are reserved for testing rocket engines using solid or liquid fuels.

Arnold graduates include Atlas, Titan, Discoverer and Polaris. The supersonic B-70 bomber will be put through its paces here before its first flight.

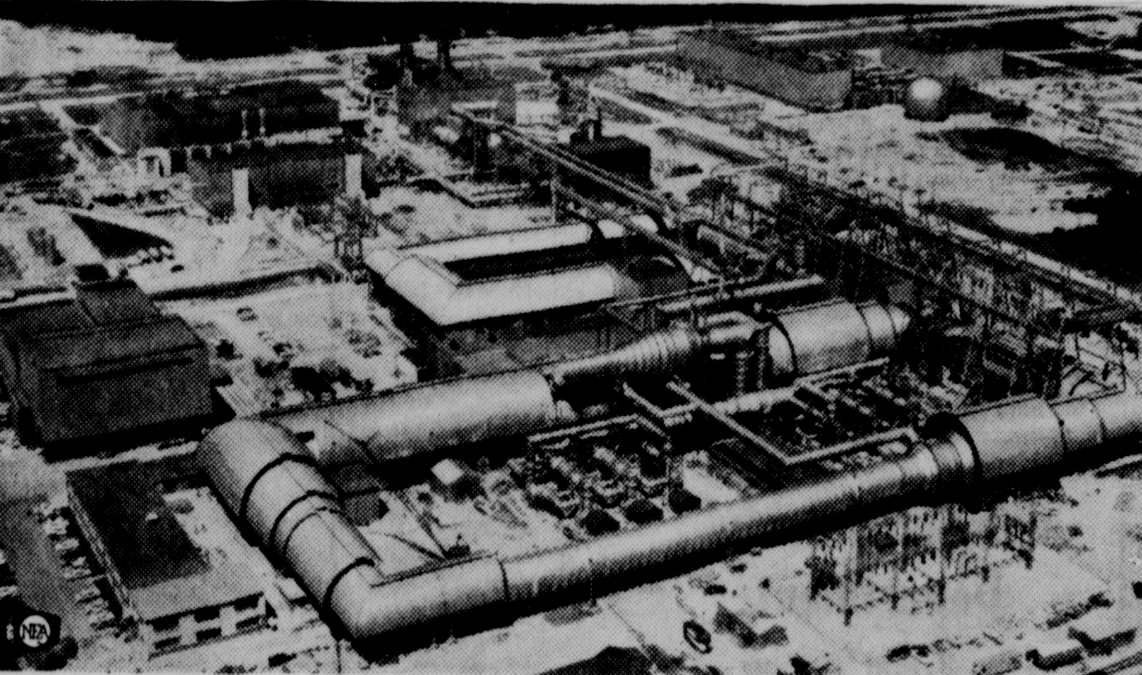

The center conducts tests for all the armed forces and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Aircraft companies are permitted to rent tunnels when they are not being used for military projects.

Brig. Gen. Homer A. Boushey, commander of Arnold, says the $325 million installation is a great money saver to taxpayers as well as a boon to national defense. Tunnel tests often uncover flaws in seemingly perfect equipment that would cause the destruction of a multi-million dollar missile or plane during flight.

Since there is not enough electrical power in the area to supply Arnold and commercial industry at the same time, the wind tunnels have to be operated at night. Working here are 16 military personnel, about 160 Air Force civilian employees and 2,000 engineers and technicians of ARO, Inc., the civilian contractor for the installation. Arnold's personnel and their families make up about 25 percent of Tullahoma's 12,000 population.

With the exception of a few minor misunderstandings, relations between natives and high altitude wind experts have been as pleasant as a summer breeze.

One incident occurred when a local policeman stopped two air men on the highway and hauled them off to jail. He was convinced that the metal drum in the back of their pickup truck was a whiskey still instead of a wind tunnel part.

The Air Force occasionally invites townspeople to the center for conducted tunnel tours. The goodwill gesture almost backfired one time when a group of women entered a tunnel that was still breezy. Their dresses promptly blew up over their heads.

When the red-faced officer in charge apologized, a middle-aged lady replied:

"Oh, I'm not angry. But I'll always be a little suspicious about it being accidental."

Old Style Polynesian Boat Popular

By Jack Schreiber

HONOLULU (AP) — The ancient Polynesian sailor would cock a pleased—and superior—eye at the Waikiki waterfront today.

He would see sleekly painted and finished double-hulled catamarans — about the fastest sailboats in the world.

They are only descendants of the great double canoes of southwestern Pacific antiquity. The word catamaran comes from the Tamil words: catu—to tie; maram—log.

With them, our ancient sailor and his brown-skinned brothers built commerce among their islands. In times of war, they were battleships. In them the Polynesians undertook their vast migrations, navigational feats which puzzle man today.

The racial descendants of these canny men of the past are making capital of their invention, for fun and profit.

Fittingly, Waikiki has played a major role in the evolution of the modern catamaran. It has be-

Awful Burden of Men In Our Radar Rooms

By WARD CANNEL

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "Listen. I wouldn't take a job operating airport radar. Not in a million years. Not after what I've seen in those control towers." The fellow talking was still visibly rattled over the in-air collision of two passenger planes over New York.

He has recently finished an assignment to define air traffic congestion problems. His official report is in. He does not want his name mentioned.

"You can go crazy in those radar rooms," he said. "Especially on the morning shift when the passenger traffic really begins piling up.

"If you're in New York, you pick up a blip of an incoming plane as it begins its descent somewhere around Allentown, Pa. You have to identify the blip and follow it while earlier blips are coming in and later ones are being picked up.

"If somebody asks you for a cigarette or if you want a cup of coffee and you look up for five seconds — well, a jet liner can go a mile in those five seconds.

"Once the planes get close enough to the airfield, their blips get moved to the close radar screen.

"You can lose a blip for several seconds. Or you can find one that you didn't expect — another couple of seconds of distraction.

"You think that kind of a job isn't enough to tense you up? A great combination — tension and tedium. And all for about $5,000 a year.

"A couple of hours off for some other duty and a couple of hours back on. It's some help. But not much.

"And then you get a visibility-zero morning like this one and those blips are piling up until your eyes are swimming. And there's no machine that can do the job nearly as well as a radar operator who's willing to work for $5,000.

"I put enough time in those radar rooms to know I don't want to fly again.

"But, of course, I do fly. You just cross your fingers and tell yourself you don't remember."

Trains of Tomorrow

By RAY CROMLEY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Railway design engineers dream of ways to rocket the nation's ailing railroads into automation by using the scientific gadgets developed for space travel.

Their fondest dream is a completely push-button railway. Some day, these planners say, "decision making electronic brains" would be located in small turret-like structures along the track. Radio impulses sent by these devices would direct the train's movements. They would switch, start, speed up, slow down, stop the trains.

These operations would be monitored by train dispatchers in their control towers many miles away.

This won't come for decades, of course, if it ever does. By the very nature of railroads, change comes slowly, usually on one private road at a time.

But here's a quick rundown on the ideas the planners are discussing in their conference rooms today.

Split-second timing and electronic planning to clear the tracks and send super-fast railroad trains hurtling across the continent from New York to San Francisco at fantastic speeds.

Photo-electric eyes for train doors and rail platforms to automate the loading and unloading of passenger trains.

Electronic reservations and the issuing of tickets automatically by electronics. When this plan goes through, you'll be able to phone in for a reservation, buy your ticket, have it charged to your telephone number — all by electronic gadgetry.

Almost complete long-distance supervision of trains. Radar and TV on the front of locomotives would give information not only to the engineer and crew; it would be sent on to a dispatcher in a control room perhaps a hundred miles away. It would mean that the dispatcher could continually look over the shoulder of the train engineer.

Radio telephones in all trains, so that the dispatchers can keep in constant communication with the train, the engineer in constant contact with the crew.

Train crews will communicate with wayside stations by radio and micro-wave systems. Crews will be kept informed instantly on the latest weather and track conditions ahead.

All-glass cars so that passengers can see out in every direction. A reverse-mirror process built into the glass will prevent people outside from looking in. The glass will be tinted to shut out the sun's glare. At night, the glass cars will be lit up with a variety of colors "to bring relaxation."

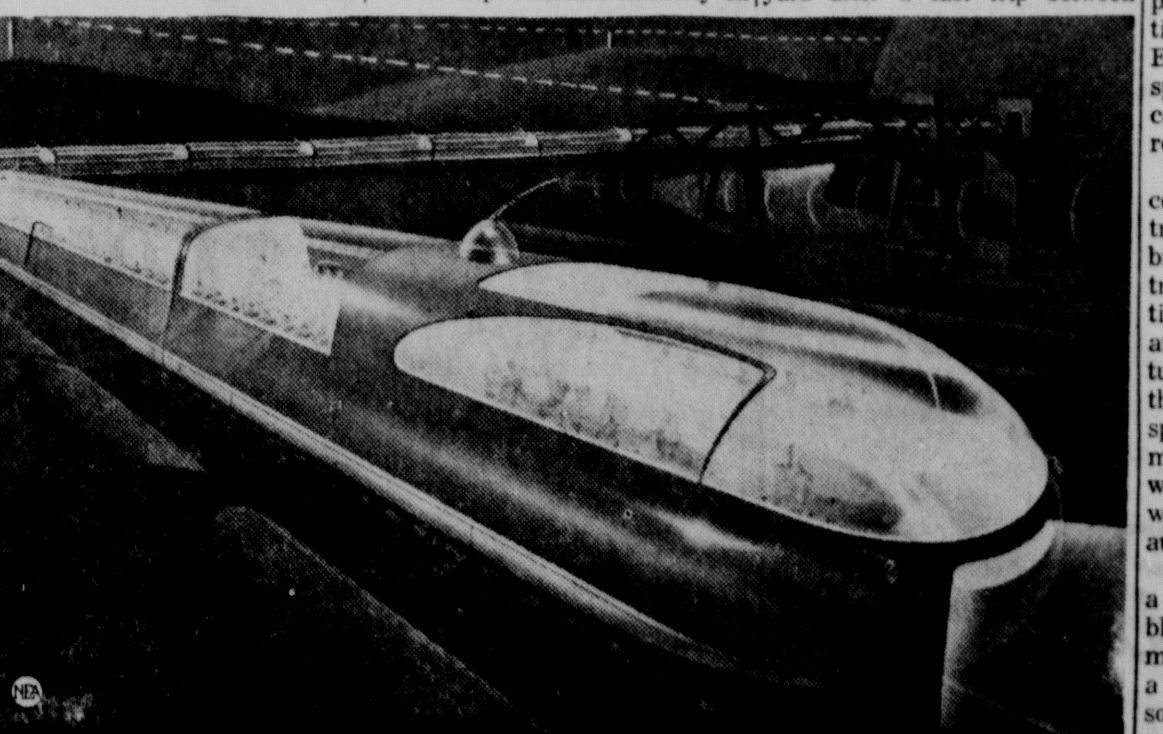

The glass will be insulated to shut out noise and dust. "Stabilizers" and "centrifugal neutralizers" will counteract jolts and sharp curves.

A taped high-fidelity system to bring all passengers the latest news and weather.

All-purpose electronically-controlled machines, each operated by one man, which would gather up track into one end as the machines moved along, and emit entirely new track at the other — rail cross-ties, rock ballast, and all — laid in place and ready to use.

Automatic freight yards which would speed the "breaking up" and assembling of trains. Here's how a railroader describes the operation:

A PASSENGER TRAIN of the future — maybe — in the designer's eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bohlken

Open House To Commemorate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bohlken, Route 2, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary by holding open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bohlken Sunday, Feb. 5, from 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Approximately 50 guests were present. The serving table was decorated with a lace cloth over gold, gold candles and a three-tier wedding cake. Around the cake were plumoses and mums. The rooms were adorned with flowers, which were gifts from friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bohlken greeted the guests at the door. Pat and Pam Bohlken, granddaughters, were in charge of the guest book and gifts. Ronald Bohlken, grandson, took pictures of the occasion. Mrs. Richard Bohlken served the punch, cake and mints.

The following Sunday, Feb. 12, a dinner was served at St. Paul's Lutheran Educational Building for relatives. Approximately 70 guests were present.

In the afternoon an impressive religious service was conducted by the Rev. Walter F. Strickert.

Those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bohlken and sons, Edgerton, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. George Bohlken, Mr. and Mrs. George Dykman, Mr. and Mrs. George Meints, Mr. and Mrs. George Minnis, Mr. and Mrs. Minnie Wheeler and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schmehl and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claus Dykman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bohlken, Mrs. Fannie Seute, Arthur, Gary and Ronnie, all of Olathe, Kan.; Helen Bohlken, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller and family, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Cris Meints and daughter and family, Tonganoxia, Kan.; Mrs. Minnie Knuth, Leavenworth, Kan.; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Weimer and family, Lenexa, Kan.

Frank Bohlken and Alice Meints were married in the Lutheran Church near Amsterdam on Feb. 8, 1911.

A short time after their marriage they moved to a farm a few miles from Amoret, where they lived until 1943, when they moved to Clinton. Then in 1944 they moved to Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohlken were presented a television by their children and grandchildren and a gold tree with silver dollars from relatives, many nice gifts and cards from friends. Also a long distance call from a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meints in Nebraska, who were unable to attend the celebration.

Houstonia PTA Meets For Program Monday
The Houstonia PTA met at the high school Monday night.

The Rev. William McGill gave the devotional. Group singing was led by Mrs. Dan Sullivan.

Mrs. Sullivan was chairman of the program. Three numbers by rooms one and two directed by the music teacher, Mrs. J. R. Chamberlin, were presented. Also three numbers by the beginners band, piano solo by Ruth Ann Robb and a Founder's Day skit given by the following: Wallace Smiley, James Houchen, Miss Lula Wheeler, Ernie Smith, Rev. Dan Sullivan, Woodford Wilson, Shirley Schouten, Mrs. Irvin Robb and Mrs. Wilbur Hayes.

Miss Orth, the speech therapist, gave a talk.

Miss Akers Honored At A Shower

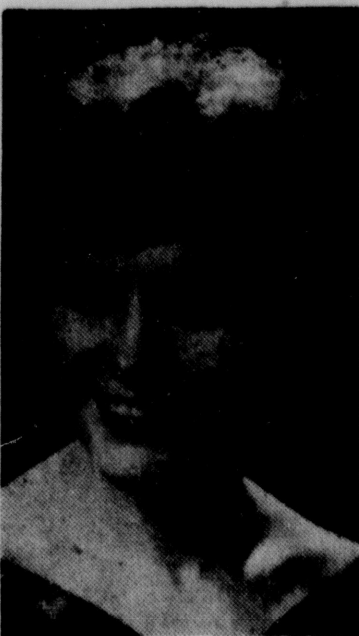

Mrs. Lloyd Smith, the former Miss Ruth Akers, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower Thursday evening given by Mrs. Margaret Smith and Mrs. Viola Ream.

The gift table was decorated with a large white wedding bell hanging above with blue and white streamers extending to candleabra at the corners of the table and a bride doll centered the table.

After several games were played the bride opened her gifts.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith, Mrs. Viretta Withers, Mrs. Anna Skidmore, Mrs. Laverie Momborg, Mrs. Dorothy Stratton, Mrs. Marjorie Dey, Mrs. Ruth Crow, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Mrs. Viola Whitfield, Mrs. Lucille Sanders, Miss Lorene Schlesselman, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Christine Riley, Mrs. Dorothy Lanpher, Mrs. Hazel Cordes, Mrs. Maxine Dilbeck, Mrs. Cleta Lane, Mrs. Kenneth Davidson, Mrs. Violet Walters, Mr. and Mrs. John Lane, Miss Margie Smith, Gene Minnis, Miss Sharon Ream, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Ream, Miss Linda Ream, Mrs. Viola Rhodes, Mrs. Sophia Crosslin and Mrs. Sarah Minnis.

Those sending gifts but unable to attend were: Mrs. Ethel Bryant, Mrs. Betty Jones, Mrs. Dollie Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Colvin, Mrs. Beverly Norris, Mrs. JoAnn Biggs, Mrs. Wilma Murray, Mrs. Frances Thompson, Mrs. Velma Waterfield, Miss Anna King, Mrs. John Hartley, Mrs. Bert DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wackoff and family, Mrs. Grace Mueller, Mrs. Evelyn Henderson, Mrs. Minnie Earhart, Mrs. Helen Jesse, Mrs. Loretta Bunn, Mrs. Carrie Moon, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Murphy, Mrs. Opal Frances, Mrs. Mabel Riley, Mrs. Letha Dehn, Mrs. Ina Mastin, Mrs. Dean Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Batschelett, Mr. and Mrs. Audie Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Williams, Mrs. Mary Laven and David, Arthur Smith and daughters and Rev. and Mrs. William Smith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Vedder, Cuba, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Mae, to Mr. Marvin Glen Maune, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Maune, 917 West Fourth. Both are 1959 graduates of Smith-Cotton High School. Miss Vedder, a math major, is attending Southwest Missouri State College, where she is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority. Mr. Maune is studying architecture at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Wedding plans are indefinite.

Mariners Club Divided Into 2 Groups Recently

The Mariners Club of Broadway Presbyterian Church, which has grown too large for one group, has divided into two groups, the Schooners Club and the Clippers Club, with officers of both being elected at a recent meeting held at the church.

Of the Schooners, Emory and Mildred Bowman were elected skippers; Jack and Mary Jane Alfrey, first mates; Jim and Virginia Giokaris, logkeepers and Hank and Marjorie Thomas, pursers.

Officers of the Clippers Club are: Ralph and Jean Van Der Kaap, skippers; John and Marjorie Brown, first mates; Bill and Pat Bridges, logkeepers and Richard and Sandra Parkhurst, pursers.

A covered dish dinner was served in the church dining room, at 6:30 p.m., with Lou and Marian Tempel, Bob and Anna Mae Cain, Emory and Mildred Bowman and Harry and Alice Erixson as hosts.

A patriotic theme was carried out in the decorations.

Bob Cain presented the Evening Watch entitled "The Art of Giving."

The Schooners will hold their next meeting on Saturday evening, March 25, and the Clippers will meet Sunday evening, March 19.

All officers were installed by the Clubs' chaplain, the Rev. D. Warren Neal.

There are four times as many night as there are daytime traffic fatalities.

BPWC Club Plans 38th Anniversary

The Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its 38th Anniversary Banquet, Thursday evening, March 2, at the Bothwell Hotel, with the Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian Church, the speaker. He has chosen for his subject: "Our Town - Our Future."

The Rev. Mr. Neal came to Sedalia in 1948 from St. Louis, and during the years has been active in the community. For the outstanding service to the town he received the Junior Chamber of Commerce Achievement Award a few years ago to become the outstanding young man of the year. He is a past president of Little League and it was during his presidency that the Little League stadium was built. He helped to organize the Civic Center, and assisted in organizing the Boy's Club of Sedalia, of which he is now a member of the board. Mr. Neal is a past president of Rotary Club in the year 1959-60, served as vice-president of the Sedalia Symphony, formerly served on the United Fund Board, and was Moderator for the Presbyterian Synod of Missouri. He is married and has two daughters.

The special music will be by John Vanderkamp and Al Domingue. Recognition will be given to charter members and new members.

Representatives from Civic Clubs and other organizations have been invited to this meeting as have members of BPW Clubs from surrounding towns.

The membership committee, of which Mrs. Jessie Goist is chairman, will be in charge of the program. Members of the committee are: Vinnie Denny, Ermine Fischer, Helen Giokaris, Dorothy Huddleston, Ena Killingsworth, Ruth Meador, Florence Middleton, Erna Ann McClure, Ruth Manley, Nyra Price, Oma Rice, Frances Sagaloff, Cleo Schumacher, Elaine Strine, Sylvia Stumpf, Maxine Swafford, Mildred Vestal, Mary Vogelsang, Sarah Williamson and Ruth Thomas.

Civic Council Meets At Houstonia School

The Houstonia Civic Council met at the high school Tuesday night with eight members present.

Mrs. Henry Hayworth was welcomed as a new member. The meeting opened with prayer. An election of officers was held with the following being elected for the coming year: Mrs. Amos Rhinehart, president; Mrs. J. C. Higgins, vice-president; Mrs. Kathryn Gilbraith, secretary-treasurer.

A report of the year's work was given by the treasurer. Plans were discussed for members. Also for the ham supper to be April 6.

Mr. and Mrs. William North, 2633 South Ingram, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel Mae, to Mr. Alvin Esser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Esser, 305 East 26th. Mr. Esser is now in basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. in the Air Force. The wedding will take place in early spring.

Miss Ruth Akers, Mr. Lloyd Smith Vows Solemnized

Miss Ruth Akers, Ladue, and Mr. Lloyd Smith, 324 North Summit, were united in marriage on Thursday evening at half past six o'clock at the First Baptist Church of Pierce City. The Rev. William Smith performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Murphy, Ladue, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Margaret Smith and the late Sgt. Cecil Smith, 324 North Summit. Attending the couple were Mrs. Betty Smith and Mr. Gene Minnis.

The bride chose a light beige wool street dress with black accessories and a red rose corsage for her wedding. She is a registered nurse and was formerly employed at the Bothwell Hospital before her marriage.

Fidelis Class Plans Regional Meeting

The Fidelis Class of the Houstonia Community Church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Rogers. There were nine members present.

The afternoon was spent in planning a regional meeting to be held at the church Feb. 27 and 28. The group also worked on a quilt.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Mary Mueller Honored on Birthday

Mrs. Mary Mueller, 1414 South Park, observed her 89th birthday anniversary on Feb. 22, and a group of friends surprised her by gathering at her home to help her celebrate.

A cake, baked by Mrs. Harold Bergmann, was served with ice cream, to the following: Mrs. Mueller, her daughter, Miss Freda Mueller, Mrs. Harold Bergmann, Mrs. Carl Bergmann, Mrs. W. R. Ramthun, Mrs. Charles Wingate, Mrs. Anna Grammer, Mrs. James Bohon, Mrs. Ralph Hamlin, Mrs. E. C. Schlichting and Denise and Diana Bergmann.

Mrs. Mueller received a number of gifts and cards.

Sedalian To Observe 99th Birthday Tues.

Michael J. Collins, 315 West Fifth, well-known Sedalian, will observe his 99th birthday anniversary, Tuesday, Feb. 28, and has already received birthday greetings from President John F. Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon Johnson.

Mr. Collins plans to spend the day quietly with his family of the home, and will have an added pleasure of having his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins, Detroit, Mich., with him.

He eats good and sleeps good, and still seems to enjoy life.

Celebrate 30th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gieseke, Concordia, celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dittmer and family, Emma.

Dinner guests were: Mary Gieseke, Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Russell and son, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Schmidt and son, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Brew, Waverly, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schroeder and sons, Mt. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hoefficker, Dover, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Weinrich, Marshall, Mrs. Lena Gieseke, Mr. and Mrs. Flora Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Borgstadt and Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Rice and family, Concordia.

Miss Anna Rose Smith Becomes Bride Of Mr. Glenn J. Hedgpeth

Miss Anna Rose Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, Houstonia, became the bride of Mr. Glenn Junior Hedgpeth, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hedgpeth, Houstonia, Friday, Feb. 17, at six forty-five o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, The Rev. Bert Alexander performed the double ring ceremony. Bouquets of spring flowers decorated the home.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace over satin ballerina length gown featuring a fitted bodice and flared skirt. Also a short jacket fashioned with a square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She carried a white and pink rose corsage on a white Bible with white streamers. Her only jewelry was an earring and necklace set, a gift from the groom.

Miss Sue Smith, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a pink tulle and cotton dress and a pink and white corsage corsage.

Mr. Jerry Hedgpeth, Kansas City, served the groom as best man.

Both mothers wore navy blue dresses with black accessories and corsages of pink and white carnations.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Houstonia Baptist Church in the basement with approximately 60 persons present.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth under pink net. The three-tier wedding cake was topped and decorated with pink roses and centered the table. A mixed bouquet was also on the table.

Servers were Miss Linda Jo Wofford, 1428 South Park, Miss Sherry Rogers, 908 Crescent Drive, Miss Emma Jean Hedgpeth, Houstonia. Mrs. James Eads, Kansas City, had charge of the guest book.

Following the reception the couple left for a honeymoon in the south. For traveling, the bride chose a green suit with black and white accessories and a pink and white corsage.

The couple will make their home in LaMonte.

The bride is a 1958 graduate of the Houstonia High School and is presently employed as secretary - bookkeeper at the First Christian Church in Sedalia.

The groom attended Houstonia High School and is now engaged in farming.

Options Taken For Versailles New Post Office

A representative of the Post Office Department took options this week on two pieces of property which would be used as a site for a new post office building in Versailles if and when such a structure is approved for the community.

One of the sites in the McMillen court south of the square and on Highway 5. The other site is land south of Harrison's Service Station owned by C. E. Bennett and Mrs. Lola Forster. These options go to St. Louis for further consideration.

Postmaster John Nelson said a decision to exercise one of the options would probably be made in 90 days.

Morgan County R II PTA Meets Monday

Founder's Day was observed by Morgan County R-II PTA at the high school auditorium Monday evening.

Honor Society Initiates New Members Wednesday

The annual initiation of members into the Knob Noster Chapter National Society of Secondary Schools was held at the high school Wednesday afternoon. The Knob Noster High School received its charter, and had its first induction of members Feb. 18, 1960, at that time 12 students received the honor.

The new members initiated were: Anita Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Allen; Mary Beth Costigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Costigan; Larry Murphey, son of M-Sgt. and Mrs. Cole S. Murphey; Sarah Jane Neitzert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Neitzert; Alyce Rivera, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. A. S. Rivera; Donna Sauls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sauls; Betty and Billy Storck, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Storck; and Fred Tebbenkamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Tebbenkamp.

These students were selected on the basis of qualifications which included an "S" grade average, outstanding character, leadership and service to the school and community.

Only juniors and seniors are eligible, though the society will continue to recognize graduate members and probationary members.

Following the initiation the following sophomores were recognized as probationary members, Karen Becker, Mary Sue Knaus, Mona Phillips, Jerry Jageman, Dale Parrott and Wally Potter.

Members elected by the local National Honor Council were Boyd Eversole, chairman, Maynard W. Duzan, Garnett Ridenhour, Mrs. Sue Scott, Mrs. Charlene Secora, Mrs. Geraldine Mann and Thomas F. Scherer.

The program was opened with all repeating the pledge of allegiance led by Miss Carol Moss. Art James gave the invocation.

Mr. Duzan, high school principal, spoke and introduced the members of the local National Honor Council.

The president's gavel exchange was given by Michael Heimerl and Nancy Rhinehart, who told the objective, meaning, history, emblem and motto of the society. Miss Rhinehart had the initiation ceremony. As the members were called to the stage, they were greeted at the foot of the steps by candlelighters, who welcomed them to enter the "Gate of Honor" and lighted their candles, which represented the torch of knowledge.

The candlelighters were Sharon Jageman, Brenda Gatschet, Carolyn Judd, and Sherri Allyn. They represented the four qualifications on which the members were chosen.

James Jageman, superintendent, congratulated the members and their parents, as this is the first step toward promoting scholarships and honoring the students nationally and internationally.

The stage setting was that of a garden scene with a white picket fence and arched gate, representing the Gate of Honor and on it was the huge keystone and lighted torch of knowledge, the emblem of the society.

Mr. Eversole, council chairman, introduced Stanley Lebow, principal of the Warrensburg Junior High School, who spoke on the "Challenge of the Crowd." He emphasized the importance of students developing qualities of character, service, leadership and scholarship.

Following the program a reception was held in the home economics department for the members, their parents, guests and high school faculty members.

The Big Job Ahead: JOBS

If your youngsters are now around the age of 8 to 12, they'll be looking for a job in about nine years. Finding one may be a good deal tougher than it is today.

By that time, some 87 million Americans are expected to be in the country's work force. But in many fields the job opportunities may be then have dwindled sharply.

In countless instances this has already happened. Automation—the introduction of automatic or nearly automatic equipment to do productive work—has wiped out thousands upon thousands of jobs. There are said to be half a million fewer full time jobs in the nation now than in 1958.

Your boy would find the pay good in the steel industry. The trouble is, his chances of hooking on there have been cut in two, and likely will be reduced further in the years ahead. General Electric says a "push-button" steel mill will be here soon.

Automobile plants have always been highly mechanized, but the trend is now to the fantastic. In a Cleveland factory, one automatic unit performs more than 500 individual operations. It can turn out 100 engine blocks in a single hour.

Looked at your radio's "works" lately? It's a complex thing. Yet today two men can put together 1,000 radios a day, an output that once required 200 men.

The next time you step into a building elevator, you'll probably find that it's automatic. The switch, which can be accomplished very easily and quickly, has eliminated 40,000 elevator operators in 15 years.

Reports to President Kennedy to congressional committees and to labor and business leaders abound with such evidences. Very few fields of endeavor have escaped the advance of automation.

Jobs no longer grow on trees, as we like to think they once did. We seem to be faced with the need to "create" new jobs at an astonishing pace in the next 10 years if we are to keep up with the tremendous additions to the work force each year.

Whether your youngster can turn in 1970 from studying and having fun to doing productive work may depend in the end on how well the "creating" is done by all those concerned with the problem, from government down through business management to the labor unions.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Discourage Mr. K's New York Trip

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — After four intensive sessions with the President, Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson is returning to his post in Moscow with instructions to discourage Premier Khrushchev from coming to New York City next month.

Thompson will try to stall a summit meeting until late summer or early fall with the explanation that President Kennedy hasn't yet completed his review of government policies.

The President decided, after hearing all the arguments, that a meeting with Khrushchev now would take place in a crisis atmosphere that would solve nothing. He instructed Thompson to attempt quiet negotiation with Khrushchev for some kind of agreement to soften the crises in the Congo and Laos.

This was the reason Kennedy sent a personal message to Khrushchev expressing his "confidence" in Thompson to speak for the United States.

Note — Under hot pressure from the Stalinists to produce results, Khrushchev may ignore President Kennedy's wishes, show up at the United Nations anyway and put on another dramatic show.

Culinary Crisis

Despite official disclaimers, the First Lady personally was behind the abortive attempt to lure that Vietnamese chef away from the French Embassy in London.

What's more, Jackie Kennedy was aided and abetted in the plot by Madame Herve Alphonse, wife of the French ambassador to Washington.

President Kennedy, no food fancier himself, knew nothing of the intrigue in the White House kitchen. Sometimes he is content to lunch on peanut butter sandwiches and beer, much to the despair of Jackie who is a true gourmet.

Particularly fond of French food, she has been trying to find a French chef since last December. Madame Alphonse told her about a fabulous Vietnamese, Buy Van Han, whom she described as the greatest embassy chef in the world.

Intrigued, Jackie enlisted two friends to lure him to the White House. They did not anticipate the furor it would kick up. Once it started to develop into an international incident, everyone dropped it like a hot Pomme De Terre.

Note — The First Lady, who has a mind as well as tastes of her own, still would like to have a famous French chef in the White House scullery.

Corruption At Canaveral

Senate rackets chairman John McClellan, whose investigators have been swarming over the nation's space bases, has just returned from Cape Canaveral, Fla., with evidence that union agents have been defrauding missile workers.

Some agents have pocketed as much as $300 a week out of union funds for what they call "walking around" money. This is supposed to cover their petty, incidental expenses. But the union officials allegedly have been walking off, not "walking around," with the money.

Another alleged practice: Signing up new workers temporarily, putting them on a job until they pay their union fees, then throwing them out of the union and starting all over with new recruits.

McClellan's gumshoes have already implicated 19 union agents in these shenanigans.

How About Erasers?

Pencil manufacturers have set aside the week of Feb. 27-March 4 as "Pencil Week." The lowly pencil would seem deserving of this honor when it is realized that more than a billion and a half pencils are purchased annually—about nine per capita. For some reason, yellow painted pencils are preferred, 12 to 1.

Franc-ly Precautionary

You can't call it filthy lucre any more in France—at least, not when it comes fresh from the bank. For the past 18 months, says the Bank of France, all French notes have been treated with disinfectant before being issued. The treatment is supposed to "render innocuous all the microbes and bacteria with which they (the bank notes) would become infected in the course of their circulation." The "secret process" was perfected after long experiments.

Guest Editorial

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER: Siesta Doomed.—One of Spain's oldest and proudest traditions may become just a drowsy memory soon if a current plan to do away with the 2½ to 3 hour afternoon siesta is adopted by Dictator Franco's cabinet. Feelers have been extended to find out if the people are ready for such a radical change.

Reason for the last snore of the siesta is that Spaniards have a permanent backlog of missed sleep. Once Spain was an agrarian nation but no longer. And the siesta in the afternoon has become a handicap because many people stay up too late as a result.

Chiefly the siesta is impractical. A Spaniard living in a suburb of sprawling Madrid, for instance, uses up most of his siesta time in travel. Because of transportation trouble, he has time only to gobble a quick lunch at home before he must join the crush of workers returning to office or factory down town. As a result the stores stay open later in the evenings and movies and other entertainment centers are open until early morning. The Spaniards lose sleep.

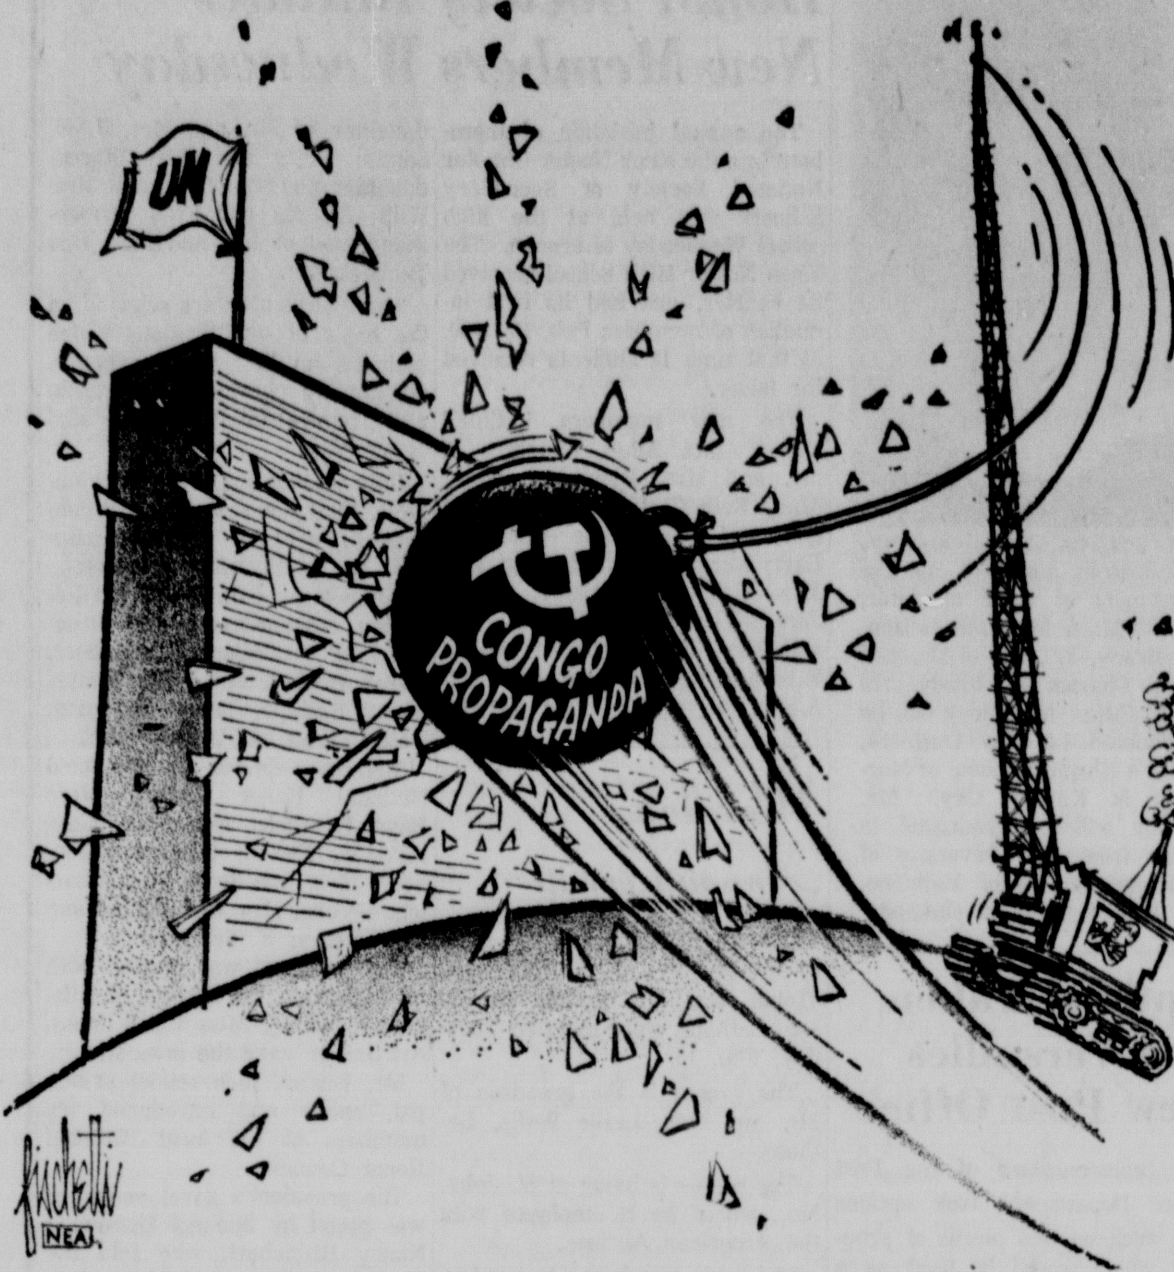

Under 9-to-5 type living, they would have more leisure in the evenings, shops and shows could close earlier, there would be less frantic haste in the daily routine.

The siesta, then, would appear to be in its final snore.

NEW FRONTIERS in Religion

The Unity of the Church

By J. Carter Swaim
Executive Director of the Department of the English Bible,
National Council of Churches

Restoration of the unity of the church is one of Christianity's New Frontiers, and the one in which the public appears to have the greatest interest. Any proposal for a merger of denominations will receive wide acclaim. A sermon deploring the fragmentation of Christendom stands a better chance of making the front page than a sermon deploring the prospective fragmentation of our globe thru atomic fission.

Denominational pronouncements summoning people to concern about juvenile delinquency are passed over in favor of ecclesiastical proposals regarding the holding of an ecumenical assembly. When we find ourselves becoming so excited about distant possibilities that we ignore immediate realities, Jesus' words ring in our ears: "Why do you call me 'Lord, Lord' and not do what I tell you?" (Luke 6:46).

The church has already more of unity than the world realizes. Statistics indicating the existence of over 200 denominations do not tell the whole story. Many of these are very small and the great majority of believers are concentrated in a comparatively few denominational families.

These family groupings are less rigid than they were. Each year hundreds of ministers and thousands of parishioners pass from one family to another with no sense of loss or even of strangeness.

It may be, however, that popular concern about church unity is a wholesome sign. Jesus' prayer for his church is "that they may all be one . . . so that the world may believe that thou hast sent me" (John 17:21). The goal of church unity is a theological one, to convince the world of the oneness which exists between God and His Son.

It is important, therefore, that steps toward that church unity should proceed from proper motive. Economic motives are sometimes given: churches should unite in order to reduce overhead and save money. Political motives are sometimes given: the churches should unite in order to speak to the government with a stentorian voice. Church unity is sometimes urged for the purpose of consolidating one power bloc against another.

It is right that natural resources should be conserved; that believers should have "the same love, being in full accord and of one mind" (Philippians 2:2), and that the witness of the church should be strengthened against every form of godlessness. In reaching this position, however, the church would defeat itself if it became simply another highly organized power structure. "The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them," said Jesus (Luke 22:25). "But not so with you; rather let the greatest among you become as the youngest and the leader as one who serves."

A single monolithic church might impress people by its vastness and dazzle them by the splendor of its trappings. This would not be an answer to our Lord's prayer. His petition to the Father is "that they may be one even as we are one" (John 17:22). The New Frontier for the church is not to organize itself into the image of a state or a corporation; nor yet simply to recognize the oneness which believers already possess, but to marshal its resources in a spirit and method by which Christ's prayer may be fulfilled, "that the world may know that thou hast sent me and hast loved them even as thou hast loved me." (John 17:23).

matter of FACT

It takes the earth 365¼ days to revolve around the sun. Every four years this accumulates to a full day—Leap Year Day. On this odd year—last year was one such—the usual rules of courtship are suspended. Spinners enjoy the prerogative of proposing to bachelors. Folk beliefs to the contrary, statistics show that Leap Year has no noticeable effect on the number of marriages

There is a step on the stairway at her house that squeaks, and one night when she was getting ready to go some place she heard that squeak.

She was certain that it was her husband coming up the stairs—but he didn't appear at the top of the steps.

She went on looking for her earrings, and she heard the stairs again. This time she thought it was her dog. But there was no sign of the dog. The board kept squeaking and she didn't know where her husband and dog were—they had not come upstairs because she would have seen them. Yet, there was certainly someone up there somewhere and she began to get scared, in fact she was real panicky. She grabbed up her earrings and turned around to leave the room. When she did she solved the mystery—the board she had been standing on squeaked. There was somebody upstairs walking on a squeaky board and she was glad that it was she instead of somebody else. It was right down spooky. H. L.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Committee Hears Commerce Bill

While the present Division of Resources and Development has done well, a reorganization is needed to do better and to give renewed vigor and renewed emphasis to Missouri's economic development, testified Robert R. Welborn, an aide to Gov. John M. Dalton, before the House Industrial Development Committee. The committee was hearing arguments on a measure to establish a Division of Commerce and Industrial Development to replace the Resources Commission. The measure implements a recommendation by Gov. Dalton.

The major change proposed by the measure would be the replacement of the present, bipartisan, 10-member, policy-making Resources Commission with a director and a seven-member, non-policy making advisory committee. The director would be appointed by the governor. The Resources Commission appoints the director under the present set-up. Opponents to the change told the committee they feared effects of the end of bipartisanship in future administrations.

House Gives Nod To Park Bond Bill

By a vote of 89-33, on House Bill No. 91 (for Perfection Only), the House gave tentative approval to a measure designed to make revenue bonds sold by the Park Board more palatable to investors. Keating (Pettis) voted "no."

The measure, being handled by House Minority Floor Leader Dorman L. Steelman, (R., Dent), would make the Park Board a

Vent and Provide Air For Safe Space Heating

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Scarcely a day passes without a report of one or more deaths from asphyxiation as the result of a malfunctioning space heater. Since these accidents are preventable, I'd like to tell you what can be done to avert any such tragedy in your home, especially if your living or sleeping quarters are confined, in small rooms of an apartment, flat, house or trailer.

Whether you heat by oil, gas, coal, wood or any other fuel, you must provide for an adequate air supply or draft. If you fail to do this, you face at least two hazards.

The first and less dangerous is an accumulation of relatively harmless carbon dioxide and an accompanying deficiency of oxygen. This combination is apt to make you breathless if you're awake. And to waken you if you've fallen asleep. For prevention and relief, all you need to do is open a window.

The more dangerous is serious and even fatal poisoning with carbon monoxide.

This gas is colorless and odorless. It can accumulate slowly and sneak up on you while you doze or sleep. It forms when the flame from any kind of fuel is starved for air. What happens then is an incomplete burning of the fuel with the production of poisonous carbon monoxide instead of less offensive carbon dioxide.

A typical instance of carbon monoxide poisoning from a space heater is related in the very excellent bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health.

On three occasions, the owner of a small grocery store was found unconscious by a customer.

Each time he was rushed to a hospital where he was assumed to have had some sort of heart attack. But then his wife had a similar attack. This led health officers to inspect the store where they found that a ceiling-hung gas heater had a flue that was ineffective when the store doors were closed for any considerable length of time.

If you rely on a space heater to warm a small shop that does not have a steady flow of customers or to warm your living or sleeping area, you must provide a steady supply of air to replace that used up in the burning of fuel. In other words, you must have a clean flue and chimney of ample size as determined by the firm which sold you the space heater, or by your health inspector whose services are free.

You must be especially careful if you reduce the amount of space you heat during the night.

For example, if you use the heater to warm several rooms throughout the day and then restrict the heating area to the bedroom at night, you may increase the possibility of asphyxiation. Whereas doors are frequently opened and shut throughout periods of activity and air makes its way through walls, windows and chinks in the several rooms, there is a great reduction of air intake in a sleeping chamber practically sealed off for the night. Since carbon monoxide is an odorless gas that may accumulate in fatal concentrations without producing warning symptoms, it is a hazard that's greatly to be feared.

All you have to do to avert this danger is to provide a free intake of air when your space heater is in use.

We, the Women

Let's Rank Homemaking With the Major Careers

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The new president of Radcliffe College, Mary Ingraham Bunting, has a lot of ideas about women—all of them interesting, but some debatable.

For instance, it is her contention that the creation of a happy home is no longer enough for a woman, that when her youngest child starts to school a woman is ready for the dual role of motherhood and a career.

That's the answer for some women, of course — particularly the women who take so little pride in the job of homemaker that when asked their occupation they reply "Just a housewife."

But there are still a great many women—and well-educated women at that—who choose homemaking as a fulltime, lifetime career and don't have any desire to turn toward a career of their own the day they send their youngest off to school.

These women have the old-fashioned (but still sound) conviction that every family needs one member (the wife and mother) whose goal in life is to encourage her husband and children rather than to achieve herself, who is never too busy with her own concerns to put her family first, whose very presence in the home gives it a warmth and security and peace that is essential to the happiness and welfare of all its members.

When Miss Bunting says that today women are "technologically unemployed" at home she must mean that there isn't enough back-breaking work to keep them busy all day long. But there is much, much more to creating and "body corporate and politic" and in effect would allow it to back its revenue bond issues with up to half of an earnings fund composed of profits from concessions, projects and facilities of the entire system.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICE

by JAMES E. POLLARD
(Copyright 1960)

One of the most common forms of public notice, or legal advertising, has to do with bids on public works, services or supplies and equipment.

Such notices tell where copies of plans, specifications and other materials and information could be obtained, and under what conditions. Each bid submitted in a typical Ohio state notice had to be accompanied by the state form of combination bidding and contract bond in the sum of 100 per cent of the bid.

Whether it is a highway construction contract, a new school building or some other form of public business, the legal notice is a "must" in such situations.

By law, the Ohio one mentioned, was to be published four times to give timely as well as ample notice.

It is significant, too, that the newspaper of paid general circulation is the chief medium relied upon to invite bids for performing public business. It has the double advantage of being both economical and effective.

Boomerang

Life is like a boomerang. The things you say and do Very often turn around

And come right back to you; So if you make an effort

To help someone in need, You'll find coming back to you

Some little kindly deed; If you say nice things to folks

You meet along the way, That's the very kind of things

That folks to you will say, If you are always thoughtful

Of others, you will find That people go out of their way

For you, in being kind; But if you are the hateful sort

And say things that are hurt, You'll find that other people

Say things to you that hurt, If you are deceitful

And do things that are cheap, Or spread unproven gossip,

That's what you're going to reap, For life is like a boomerang

And wise it is to learn, That what you give to others

Is just what will return.

World Tour May Complete Stage Career

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Helen Hayes is going on overseas tour that may be her stage farewell.

"If we make a good step forward for our theater in the world," the star says, "I feel very much that that would be a good exit."

"I wish I could stop. My mother used to say, 'Always leave them wanting more.'"

"It would be nice to remember those words."

The expedition upon which Miss Hayes is embarked is the first theatrical project specifically set up under the State Department's cultural exchange program.

The 33-member troupe—formally called the Theatre Guild American Repertory Company—departs March 5 from Washington on a goodwill tour of 19 European cities, later goes to Latin America.

The three plays being done are "The Glass Menagerie," "The Skin of Our Teeth" and "The Miracle Worker."

The elaborate official title is already being boiled down in some promotional listings abroad as "The Helen Hayes Company," despite the presence of such other name players as June Haver, Helen Menken and Leif Erickson.

The leading players of the company are being paid "considerably less" than they would receive from commercial enterprise, according to Robert C. Schnitzer, general manager. The pay of supporting actors is in line with established scale.

An impulse, says Miss Hayes, got her involved. Lawrence Langner, cofounder of the Theatre Guild, telephoned her at her Cuernavaca, Mexico, home last July to report the project, and extend an invitation. Previously she had been steadfastly refusing bids for new Broadway shows and two movies.

"That was the psychological moment," she admits. "I was sitting on my beautiful gallery, resting, remote and at peace. Everything in life seemed so easy. Looking across at the volcanoes, they seemed so eternal and I was feeling pretty eternal."

"I didn't stop to think I might be doing something that might reduce that durability."

"My first answer was based, not on going to Europe, but because the company would eventually play Mexico City. The length of the tour excited me, but at first the attitude was completely unrealistic—it was all yum-yum."

"Then the undertaking began to grow on me, and it was something I wanted to be a part of. And we've got to be pretty good. I won't be satisfied with seeing a pyramid if I feel we're not properly representing this country."

"An incredible number of stops on the itinerary are new to me," she says. "I thought that over the years I had seen a good part of Europe, but I must have been traveling in a small circle."

The ARC tour includes these stops: March 8, Madrid; 14, Brussels; 21, The Hague; 24, Belgrade; 28 Athens; April 1, Cairo; 5, Tel Aviv; 11, Milan; 18, Vienna; 25, West Berlin; May 2, Copenhagen; 6, Oslo; 12, Stockholm; 19, Helsinki; 23, Hamburg; 27, Rome; June 2, Geneva; 6, Turin, and 10, Paris.

Pilot Grove WMS Holds Regular Meet

The Women's Missionary Society of the Pilot Grove Presbyterian Church met with Mrs. E. I. Schilb as hostess.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. A. G. Olson, Mrs. Milton Schlottzauer, vice president, presided. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Schlottzauer using "Purpose of UPW," followed by prayer from the World Day of Prayer.

Letters were read from the Presbyterian treasurer stressing discipline for the coming year and from Miss Gail Asel, the missionary supported by the Sedalia Presbyterian.

Mrs. Schilb discussed women, who are prominent in religious programs on TV and Mrs. Fred Hirst told of the work done by Dr. Sarah Bowen at Embudo Hospital. Mrs. Schlottzauer spoke on the "Influence of Christian Missions on New African Nations." She also gave the "Profile of Dr. Evelyn Koh," the first of a series of profiles of prominent missionaries.

Several Guests Visit Levi And Lace Club Dance

Square-em-up lets dance, was the call given by guest caller Herb Weinbrener, at the regular dance of Levi and Lace Square Dance Club Saturday night at Whittier School. In answer to his call nine squares formed to dance "Penny Candy."

The Lincoln Club was special guest of the evening and a nice group from there was present. Ray and Jo McCarty were present and brought their plaque in return for the IOU which had been given to Levi and Lace. Also a square from Herbie Derbies came to get their plaque which the Levi and Lace had gotten at a previous dance.

Bill and Hazel Cecil, entertainment committee, used Cherry Trees and Hatchets for mixers.

New members recently joining the club are as follows: Nolin and Carolyn Gieschens, Rance and Lois Hoehns, Carl and Elizabeth Johnson, Johnny and Mary Lou Beaman, George and Violet Henderson, Fay Helsey, Daryl Cook, Paul and Betty Fortune, Rudy and Lillian Rehmer and Steve, Helen and Mary Bergman.

The LaMonte Club has been invited to be a special guest on March 4 and at that time Warren Lindsey from Marshall will be guest caller.

The refreshments committee, Warth and Ruth Kandle, Ralph and Irene Cook, Junior and Ann Lower and Douglas and Florence Middleton, served refreshments following the dance.

Beta Tau Chapter Holds Social Meet

Beta Tau Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Thursday, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m. for a social meeting at the Old Missouri Homestead.

After a short business meeting dessert was served and gifts from secret pals were opened. Secret pals were also revealed at the meeting.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing cards.

The theme was in keeping with Valentine's Day, and was carried out in the table decorations with red and white hearts and flowers.

McQueen Is Angry Over Show's Fate

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Steve McQueen insists that he's not hurt, but he's terribly, terribly angry. He believes that Josh Randall, the intrepid bounty hunter of "Wanted—Dead or Alive" is a murder victim, shot in the back.

Steven's show, a Western series which had made him a big star over the past three seasons, will disappear from the CBS lineup on the night of March 29.

"Personally," said Steve earnestly, "I'm glad to be out of it. But I get burned up when I think about what happened to the show. For two seasons it was in the Saturday night lineup—at 8:30, right after 'Perry Mason'."

"We had a good strong show with great ratings. Then this season, CBS made some sort of a deal about 'Checkmate,' and they bounced us out and over to Wednesday nights."

"I knew then that the show would be tromped—Wednesday night is death row on CBS, and they stuck us opposite 'The Price is Right.' I've felt for some time that Westerns are on the way out, and last year I wanted to leave the show. We got into a terrible hassle about it, but they wouldn't let me out. What still bothers me is that I was turning down picture offers right and left."

The imminent demise of "Wanted—Dead or Alive," however, will not find McQueen joining the ranks of the unemployed.

"It's fantastic," he said. "I know that a swing from television to motion pictures is always a precarious thing. But two major studios have offered me great deals—one picture a year for five years for $1 million and a percentage of the profits, and I can do other things as well."

The McQueen show, of course, is neither the first nor will it be the last program to bite the dust as a result of tough competition from rival networks.

Both NBC and ABC have been attempting—unsuccessfully—to compete in various ways with "Gunsmoke" and "Have Gun, Will Travel" remain two of the most successful shows on the air. Next season NBC will try old movies as its lure.

ABC's "The Untouchables" has cut down almost as many rival programs as it has crime overloads. One recent victim of Eliot Ness and his boys is "The Ann Sothern Show." This situation comedy had run along nicely for years, at first alternating with the Jack Benny Show and then in an early mid-week time slot. This year it was moved into disastrous competition with the ABC crime show. After that, a move to an earlier spot in the Thursday night schedule didn't help much, and it is slated to disappear come spring.

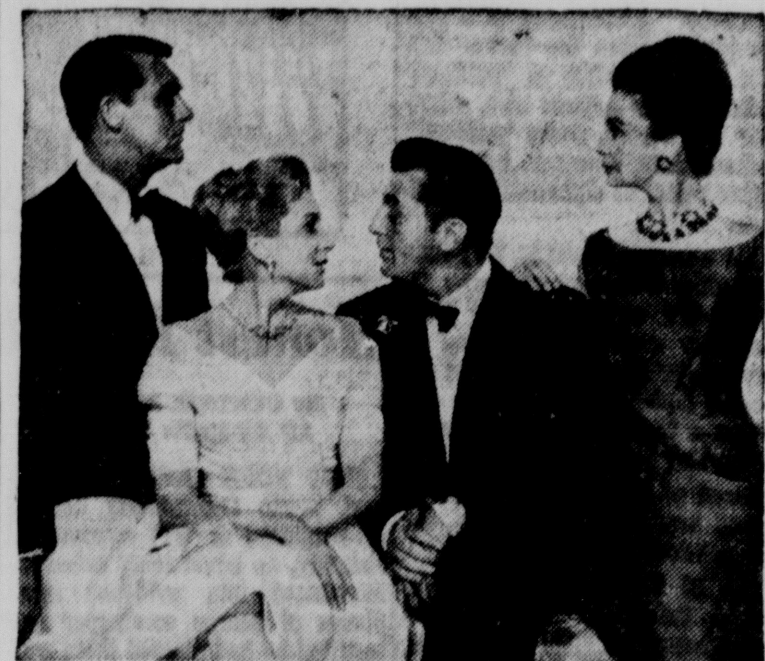

NBC's Loretta Young Show is a TV fixture and did beautifully for years—until CBS came up this fall with "Candid Camera" which immediately shot up to the top of audience popularity lists—largely at Miss Young's expense.

"Rawhide" proved such tough competition that "Dan Raven" was one of the first casualties of the season. "Dante" has been lipped by a combination of "Andy Griffith Show" and "Adventures in Paradise."

These may not be murder cases, as McQueen suggests, but in television the competition is murderous. Survival often depends upon factors beyond a performer's control.

Others in attendance at the dinner meeting were Bill Stewart and Bill Reusch, Kansas City, and Bill Deuel, Sedalia, representing the Associated Grocers, Ed Killip, Bill Black and Bill Sheehan, Kansas City, all with Swift and Company.

Bargain Hunt For Tickets On Broadway

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bargain hunters are having a rare Broadway show spree with cut-rate tickets. But not everybody can get in on the bonanza.

Seven of the 26 current attractions are whetting boxoffice activity with "two-fers," and another soon joins the group—a mid-season condition without parallel in the recall of theater veterans.

"Two-fers" are cards which enable fans to purchase duets at approximately half the regular scale—in other words, two people get in for the price of one.

Included in the singular present markdown are performances by some of the biggest stars—Sir Laurence Olivier, Ethel Merman, Maurice Evans.

The increase of two-fers is attributed to a variety of causes: Business recession; the failure of most of the season's new productions to generate critical reviews of the kind that start ticket stampedes; and a growing audience that waits for issuance of the two-fers.

"Very definitely there are a lot of people who like to go to the theater but wait for the discount tickets," reports one experienced Broadwayite.

Two-fers are generally distributed in bulk to employee clubs of large companies, to social groups. One producer has his own special list of beauty shops and cigar stores that get the tickets for customers.

Offhand, the practice seems unfair to the person who walks up to the boxoffice without a twofer and has to pay full price. But excluded from the twofer sale are the best seats in the house—usually the first 12 rows—and the quota of cut-price seats for each performance is limited Friday and Saturday performances are usually excluded from markdown.

The purpose of discount tickets, like the causes, are several: One is to enhance the prestige of a hit by extending a long run, as is the case with "Gypsy"; another is to help a show repay its investment, as with "Tenderloin"; another is simply to keep people employed. Democrat Class Ads Get Results! Phone TA 6-1000

World Spends $330 Million Daily on Arms and Armies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world is spending $330 million a day—$14 million an hour—on arms and armies.

In sum, mankind is spending at least $120 billion annually to preserve its respective hunting grounds inviolate—or for the ultimate purpose of encroaching on those belonging to others.

The United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics spend collectively about 73 per cent of the total—$88 billion.

The arms race, in brief, is costing the world $40 a year each for every man, woman and child now living.

If the world were to collect all this money into a common pool for peaceful purposes, the average annual cash income of every Chinaman, Indian and Pakistani—1.2 billion people who net less than $100 each year—could be more than doubled.

Adequate housing could be provided for 240 million families now living—if that is the right word—in underdeveloped nations. It wouldn't cost much. In some places houses are being built for as little as $375 to $500 each. The money goes for material only.

While this wouldn't be much of a house by U.S. standards, such a home would be a palace to people living in wattle and daub hovels or camped atop the local garbage heap in shacks of flattened tin cans and cardboard.

The hungry among the world's three billion people could be fed, the sick provided with medical care.

An absolute end to the arms race would release the constructive energies of at least 15 million men, now in training to kill each other.

This, however, does not tell the whole story. One of the world's rules-of-thumb is that at least four men must labor to keep one soldier armed, fed and supplied.

Thus, an end to the arms race would enable another 60 million men to turn to the task of beating swords into plowshares.

An uncounted number of scientists, now bending their brains to bigger and better means of mass destruction, could turn their thoughts to the stars or dig into the secret of life itself.

This is what might be. For all the talk of disarmament, however, the arms race seems unlikely to end anytime soon. In his inaugural address, President Kennedy gave the reason for the American expenditures and recognized the disadvantages of the arms race: "We dare not tempt them (Communists) with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed. But neither can two great and powerful groups of nations take comfort from our present course—both sides overburdened by the cost of modern weapons, both rightly alarmed by the steady spread of the deadly atom, yet both racing to alter that uncertain balance of terror that stays the hand of mankind's final war."

The price of balancing terror is $120 billion a year.

The United States is spending more on armaments than any other nation, $46 billion annually for missiles, manpower, tanks, guns, ships, atomic explosives and military aid to allies.

That figures out to 55 per cent of the federal government's total budget. It is roughly 9.2 per cent of the United States' gross national product—income from all sources for everybody—which is now about $500 billion annually.

In relation to the United States' expenditure, the Soviets are by their own admission a peace loving nation. If you could believe the Soviet official figures, which you can't, they are spending only $10.2 billion annually on arms. This is out of a total budget of $86 billion.

The Soviets, however, conceal their real military expenditures in their budget under such innocuous headings as "heavy construction," "education" and "scientific experiments."

Analysts in the Department of State and Defense estimate that the U.S.S.R. would be in the neighborhood of $42 billion.

This boils down to about 49 per cent of the total Soviet budget and to roughly 12 per cent of the Red nation's gross national product of $380 billion.

But that doesn't tell the whole story either. Since the Soviets can control prices, it is probable that they obtain far more armaments per their new ($11) ruble than the United States does per dollar.

However you assess all this, it comes out to a fantastic sum.

Just to keep the record straight you must remember that immediately after World War II ended, the Western powers undertook what amounted to a unilateral decision to disarm.

At the same time the Soviets went home to pick up the pieces and to engage in a complete rearmament program. As matters now stand, the U.S.S.R. has the most modern armed forces extant.

At the time of the Korean War, the U. S. military budget was only $13.5 billion.

The arms race began in 1950 in earnest and, though 10 years have elapsed, the West still is trying to catch up.

Of course, this is only part of the total picture, albeit the major portion.

The seven Communist bloc nations of Europe—Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, East Germany and Albania—are spending about $7 billion on military forces.

This amounts to around 6 per cent of these nation's gross national product of $117 billion.

The Red Chinese are pumping about $6 billion a year into maintenance of the largest land force in the world—2.5 million men. By and large, the Chinese are

School Officials Red Faced After Parking Lesson

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A high school vice principal and his janitor started out to teach a lesson to 15 students Thursday but ended up having to do some explaining to police.

After bicycle and motor scooter riders ignored warnings not to use the school's auto parking lot, the vice principal, Luther E. Hartman, and janitor Joe Guerrero confiscated five bicycles and stripped all accessories from 10 motor scooters.

Patrolman G. S. Connell, who answered the student's call to the school to investigate a "mass theft," found the bicycles in the school basement and the motor scooter accessories in the principal's office.

Connell returned the bicycles and parts to the students, warning them to change their parking place. No charges were filed.

"I had no idea the kids would call police," the embarrassed Hartman said.

Cyprus to Set Up National Lottery

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Cyprus will set up a national lottery soon, President Archbishop Makarios said Thursday.

He told a news conference that investment by Cypriots in British football pools will be banned as soon as the lottery starts here.

It is estimated about $2.8 million is spent annually by Cypriots on British pools.

equipped with surplus Soviet arms.

In any case, the Red Chinese are estimated to be spending about 6 per cent of their gross national product of $100 billion on their military.

Ambassadors Are Lacking In Languages

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has been picking new ambassadors with about the same language qualifications as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's ambassadors.

A check of Kennedy's 13 announced choices of men to represent America at foreign capitals showed today that: Eight speak a language native to or commonly used in the countries to which they are sent—five do not. Their Eisenhower predecessors had the same ratio of language qualifications.

Kennedy also has been selecting about the same proportion of career men as Eisenhower.

In U. S. government parlance a "career" ambassador is a person picked from the career foreign service while a "political" ambassador is anyone else, whatever his merits. Some "political" ambassadors, however, have had a great deal of diplomatic experience.

For example David K. E. Bruce a wealthy Democrat who was Eisenhower's ambassador to West Germany and is now going to London for Kennedy, has had extensive diplomatic experience and enjoys a high rating from career diplomats.

Seven of the Kennedy appointments are career diplomats, six are political appointees.

The 13 Eisenhower envoys replaced include six career diplomats, seven political appointees. Kennedy, whose father was a politically appointed ambassador to London, raised the issue of the competency of U.S. ambassadors in his campaign for the presidency last year.

"I believe it incumbent upon the next president of the United States," he said, to appoint "the best people he can get, ambassadors who can speak the language—not merely people who make a political contribution, but can speak the language."

Against such criticism, Eisenhower administration defenders said: (1) The State Department was already pushing language training for foreign service officers, (2) the frequently-rotated diplomats could not possibly learn every intricate language where they might be sent, and (3) the top officer in many embassies can operate effectively without the local language.

Honest Kick Is On In TV Commercials

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—At a Federal Trade Commission hearing investigating a TV commercial recently, an advertising executive introduced into evidence three pieces of coarse sandpaper and testified he had shaved them with a safety razor (after first soaking each piece with his brand of shaving cream for periods ranging from 2 1/2 to 30 minutes.)

When the manufacturers of a brand of detergents recently made a commercial demonstrating how much more efficient their product is than those of competitors, witnesses and notaries public were present to watch the dish-washing and then signed statements to that effect.

When the maker of a cooking oil wanted to make the point in TV commercials that his product unlike others, remained liquid under refrigeration, samples of the oil and of eight competitive products were placed in nine different refrigerators and given a chance, under controlled conditions, to solidify for one solid week.

When a carpet manufacturer wanted to claim the fibers of his product did not come loose, vacuum-cleaner tests were made and the dust bags emptied out and inspected by witnesses.

"Ah, yes," sighed an executive of a New York studio where large numbers of TV commercials are made, "The honesty kick is still on. Even the steam you see coming up from a cup of coffee is real steam these days. The days of holding a burning cigarette behind the cup are gone—forever, I guess."

After all the preliminary announcements, the Perry Como Show quietly junked its idea to do three musical comedy shows in a row, vaguely connected under the general title of "Love Story." This week's show, with Anne Bancroft and Jimmy Durante, was supposed to have been the first, sub-titled "Boy Meets Girl." Instead it was a variety show with the principals breaking up just a little too much and too often.

According to NBC, everyone liked the idea of doing some original "book" musicals, but the scripts just didn't work out satisfactorily.

ABC, in another move to improve its news services, will cut five minutes off its afternoon

"About Faces" show starting March 6, and substitute a short news roundup Red Skelton, abetted by Ed Wynn, will return to his regular program March 14, after surgery and a lengthy convalescence. NBC is expected to switch "Bonanza" into Dinah Shore's Sunday hour next season, and there's a good chance Dinah will be back with a show on a week-day evening.

Jail Prisoner Asks To Stay for Supper

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Walter Westbrook, 50, of Pittsburgh's Hill District was taken to jail Thursday after failing to pay a $366 fine on a lottery charge.

Two hours later the fine was paid by a friend.

"Let me stay in jail for another hour," said Westbrook, "and I'll get my supper free."

The request was granted.

Tribal Chiefs Back New British Plan

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—African tribal chiefs today backed a British plan to give the Negroes of Northern Rhodesia more political freedom as the white minority threatened to demand independence to preserve white supremacy in the royal protectorate.

Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Central African Federation that links Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland was reported ready to call a general election asking for a mandate to break all ties with the crown.

Troops were held in readiness but fears of any immediate outburst of racial strife in Northern Rhodesia subsided after 25 tribal chiefs approved the proposed British reforms and appealed to the Africans to remain calm. But the chiefs—representing all the tribes in the territory—expressed grave concern at the troop mobilization ordered by Welensky after he rejected the proposed new constitution for Northern Rhodesia.

While still holding to the view that Africans should dominate the administrative council that governs Northern Rhodesia, the chiefs agreed to go along with the British plan as an interim measure offering some political advance for Africans.

Welensky, however, was adamant in his opposition to anything promising black rule in any part of the federation and also insisted the territory's white minority would not permit any breakup of the federation, as the African nationalists of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland have been demanding.

Peter and Mary Split Up For Night Club Act

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of show business' most famous husband and wife teams is breaking up the act—for nightclubs, that is.

Mary Healy says she won't be with her husband, Peter Lind Hayes, when he next hits the saloon circuit after they finish filming their NBC-TV series in April.

"I'm being replaced by a group—four boys and a girl—in the act," Mary added Thursday.

"To be honest," she told a newsman. "I have never really been mad for show business the way Peter is. I have always enjoyed my work but I don't feel I need to do it to keep happy."

The couple, married nearly 20 years, have two children, a girl, 10, and a boy, 12.

Girl Scout Notes

Brownie Troop 39 of Horace Mann School met Feb. 21 with its leader, Mrs. Dean Binderup, and co-leaders, Mrs. Tom Baker and Mrs. Bill Reid. The girls practiced their Girl Scout laws, and played two games. The meeting adjourned with the Brownie Friendship Circle and Taps. Kathy Warbritton is troop scribe.

Brownie Troop 53 of Horace Mann School met Feb. 21. The meeting was called to order by Marsha Foote, chairman. Dues were collected by Mary Talbot. The Girl Scout cookie sale was discussed, and the materials distributed. Work was begun on a garden-flower notebook, and each variety of seed was also planted. The meeting was dismissed by the leader, Mrs. Harold Lane. The co-leaders of this troop are Mrs. Kathleen Grayston and Mrs. Otis Bare.

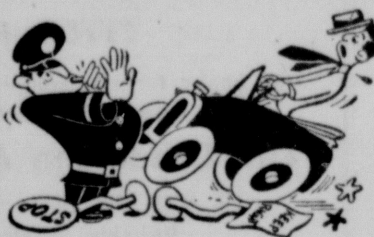

Brownie Troop 12 of Jefferson School met Feb. 17 with its leaders, Mrs. Elaine Miller and Mrs. Betty McCall. The meeting opened by repeating the Brownie Pledge. The girls checked their good deed charts and read from a Brownie handbook. Games were played and the meeting closed with Taps.

Brownie Troop 73 of Mark Twain School met Feb. 21 with its leader, Mrs. Floyd Lively, and co-leader, Mrs. Robert Werner. There were 17 members present. Shannon Leslie checked the attendance. Dues were collected by Martha Buchholz. The leaders explained the Girl Scout cookie sale, and the girls will take orders starting Feb. 27. The members discussed the method to be used for this sale. The Brownies then had the flag ceremony, Pledge of Allegiance, and sang "America the Beautiful." The meeting closed with Taps.

Brownie Troop 71 of Horace Mann School met Feb. 21 with its leaders, Mrs. Bob Edmondson and Mrs. Joe White. The annual cookie sale was discussed. Order blanks were given to each girl. Orders for cookies are not to be taken before Feb. 27. Donna Ray's mother will be cookie chairman for the troop. Cherry tree centerpieces were made to be used on George Washington's birthday. The meeting closed with the singing of "Merrily We Worked and Played."

Brownie Troop 15 of Hubbard School met Feb. 20 with its leader, Mrs. Orlander Black. There were 23 members present. Plans were made for the Girl Scout cookie sale, which will be held during the month of March. Each girl will be given an identification tag before taking orders. Due to the varied church programs, the playlet, "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," will be given at a later date. Each member responded with a Bible verse to roll call. The meeting closed with the singing of Taps. Sharon Newbills is the troop scribe.

To Consider Upping Forces in the Congo

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada is prepared to consider any request from the United Nations for an increase in its contribution to the U.N. force in the Congo, Foreign Secretary Howard Green said Thursday.

He said, however, that no such request has yet been received. Canada has about 250 men, mostly signals and headquarters personnel, in the Congo.

House Approves Aid Agreement

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the South Korean Lower House today unanimously approved the controversial new U.S.-Korean aid agreement. The committee made no revisions.

It appeared certain the agreement would win House consent with little opposition.

The agreement gives the United States the right to "continuous observation and review" of how its aid programs are administered here. It requires South Korea to furnish "full and complete information." American aid funds make up more than half the country's national budget.
